Martin Zalba

Martin Zalba is a music composer and a photographer and is trying to merge the two. Zalba looks at still life a lot, particularly as he draws and paints too.

I find his still life work quite inspirational for my work, because I want to take still life photographs of objects that show my family heritage.

Silvia Rosi

Silvia Rosi studied BA Photography at London College of Communication and got her degree in 2016 (Silvia Rosi, n.d). Rosi looks at her family and heritage and explores them using self portraits where she acts as her mother/father.

I find Rosi's photographs really influential for this task since I plan to look at my own family and heritage, and has given me some ideas photographically.

Evaluation

On the whole I quite enjoyed working on The Reading Festival because I have always enjoyed looking back on my family history and talking about it with my family, and this project allowed me to look furhter into it. I am pleased with the outcome and think my images work well together, though I think I should have experimented more whilst editing and taking the photos as I think it could have made the images more eye catching. I am happy that I decided to step out of my comfort zone and away from black and white photography because I think it works well for the theme of family and history I was going for.

After first reading the short stories for this unit I struggled thinking of strong images that related to the themes that I found within the stories. Once I had read the stories again I became more and more interested in The Company of Wolves by Angela Carter and Paper Menagerie by Ken Liu. Whilst reading The Company of Wolves kept coming back to the idea of metamorphosis which made me want to look at photographing makeup and how makeup changes appearance, however, I am not the best at makeup so I was going to ask my friend if she would model for me but due to lockdown I was unable to do this idea. Paper Menagerie made me think of themes surrounding family and heritage, and I quite liked the idea of looking at my own family and heritage because I have always known my family has an interesting history and heritage.

I originally wanted to look at how my grandad's family came over to Swansea from Belgium but I struggled thinking of ideas for photos so I looked more into the family, and I saw that my grandad's dad was a boxer during the war and was really good at it too, so I thought that would be fascinating to look into. From the start of my idea of looking at my great grandad and his boxing I knew I wanted to take photos whilst talking to my grandad about him. I also planned on photographing the cups and medals that he won in my garden using a bed sheet as a backdrop of the objects because I quite like the texture that it creates in photos, however, due to bad weather I had to improvise and do it inside, which I think worked well but it wasn't what I had originally in mind. I tried combining the documents that I had scanned with the photos I took but I felt they didin't work and the photos looked better on their own. When editing the photos I knew I wanted to step away from black and white and use colour instead, because I wanted to show the colour of the medals and cups which I think shows the age of them quite well.
