

The Maison Jaoul was designed by Le Corbusier in around 1955-56 but plans started in around 1937, as proven by Jessica Flore Angel (No Date). It can be found in Neuilly-sue-Siene in Paris, France. It was also designed for Andre Jaoule, whos own son helped to design. It was then built after the war by father and son.

The building has been protected by the government since 1966. The Maison Jaoule consists of two adjacent houses, both built using raw concrete. It is also built using a brutalist design method.

Jessica Flore Angel (No Date) Maison Jaoul. Available at: <https://jessica-f-angel.com/maison-jaoul> (Accessed on 1st April 2025)

Le Vagabond Des Etoiles (No Date)

Maisons Jaoul - Le Corbusier.

Available at:

<https://www.vagabond-des-etoiles.com/architecture/maisons-jaoul-le-corbusier/>
(Accessed on: 1st April 2025)

InfoHome (16/02/2023) Top 64+

Stunning Le Corbusier House Plan

Voted By The Construction

Association. Available at:

<https://www.allinfohome.com/house-design/le-corbusier-house-plan>
(Accessed on: 1st April 2025)