Thanks for the submission Rob, overall a good effort.

There is work shown in each area required but I would liked to have seen more overall. Some more examples of anatomy and colour theory application would have gone a long way to illustrating your knowledge on the subject.

Also the benefit of having more attempts is to show the iterative process, and to show your progress gained through practice. Work you've shown does show promise for the future and with a bit more time invested into practicing these fundamental art skills, you will greatly and markedly improve overall.
