Why are all personas male? - You personas raises some good tasks and requirements, but how did you develop there? Did you discuss them with a focus group? This should be recorded. Good use of patterns and justification of design choices. Cognitive walk through is okay, but it would be better to get feedback from other people. If you're going to do a cognitive walk through you should show the task lists and testing matrices in an appendix. Remember to put the full publication details in your references.
