

Diversity Training Online – Embrace It!

As a result of COVID-19, our Diversity training courses are now being delivered online. Different tools, different methods, different interactions, SAME outcome. Below is a ‘flavour’ of the new way forward.

Flexible working locations

Study from a location that best suits your situation and needs – whether that’s your place of work, your home or a community space – you decide.

Understand the History of Diversity training

Watch this video of Jane Elliott’s ‘Blue Eyes, Brown Eyes’ experiment, to witness the impact of diversity training and how it can impact on learners.

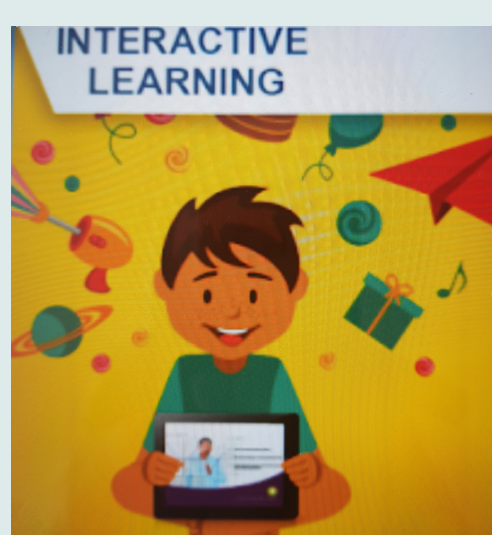

Technology and support

The organisation will ensure that you have the right equipment, software and training to enable you to access and participate in the course.

Continuous Professional Development

Through the use of an interactive platform, you will be able to reflect using scenarios and questions, which will enable you to embed your learning and reflect on how you have integrated diversity into your daily life and work.

The importance of participation

Diversity training explores areas that often challenges people’s thoughts, beliefs and emotions and your participation in meaningful discussions around this topic is an essential element to ensure active and engaged learning.

What you will learn....
