

Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship (ESDGC).

Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship (ESDGC) seeks to give learners, at all stages of education, an understanding of the impact of their choices on other people, the economy and the environment. (Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship - Hwb, 2022).

“Climate change, poverty, conflict and consumer pressure are all part of our world today. ESDGC seeks to find ways to raise awareness and action to address the consequences of our lifestyle choices” Jane Hutt, Minister for Children, Education, Lifelong Learning and Skills - Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship - A Strategy for Action, Updated January 2008. (Department for Children, Education, Lifelong Learning and Skills, 2008).

(Sustainable Future Tree, 2022).

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) were adopted by all United Nations Member States in 2015 to end poverty, reduce inequality and build more peaceful, prosperous societies by 2030. Also known as the Global Goals, the SDGs are a call to action to create a world where no one is left behind. (UNICEF and the Sustainable Development Goals, 2022).

Wales is not unusual in its desire to ensure that all its children and young people benefit from relevant education of the highest quality. Internationally, there has been an increasing trend for countries to see a two-way relationship between the quality of their education systems and the wider health of their society and economy. As part of this trend, the nature of the school curriculum has, in many countries, become a strongly contested area of national policy. (Successful Futures, 2015).
