The relationship between material and memory...

Cloth can hold all of our memories....

From the moment we are born to the moment
we die, we are wrapped
in cloth

"literal narratives conveyed through text appear on the surface or are embedded in the structure of the textile and can be read by the same way that text on paper is read" Jessica Hemmings

Cloth can be powerful pieces of narratives

What stories do my clothes hide?

What's Next?

used cloth
already full
of stories

The image shows a rectangular piece of marbled paper with a black border. The marbling pattern consists of swirling, cloud-like shapes in shades of grey, white, and light brown. The text 'Material Memories' is written in a black, cursive script across the center of the paper.
