

Jedward Who??

New Hiphop R&B act set to take the UK by storm!

Jedward were the only 'identical twin' act to represent the UK hip hop scene during an audition on the X factor. Whilst they gained a successful career as a comical duo act in the pop scene, it left people wondering, what if there actually was a serious hip hop act that could win hearts and impress with 'real' music. Enter the Loveless twins... two identical twins from the south coast who live and breath the UK hip hop and R&B scene. Teaming up with producer Rich Buck they have started work on their first album with a new single ready for release in the not too distant future.

The single 'Best Mates' is not your bog standard hip hop track and has an original feel compared to anything else currently on the scene. They bring a new style in the way they rap and when you hear them sing in future releases, you realise they have the whole package. Currently about to tour the UK to promote the new single they can be seen at over 40 venues in the next few months.

"Getting in the studio with Rich has been incredible and we wish we had done it sooner, so excited for the future" - Loveless Twins

Working with the Loveless Twins is great, you never know what to expect, I like that" - Rich Buck, DDP
