In pairs discuss which character from above might think these thoughts:

I hope that lazy madam has got her act together today. What she does all day is a mystery to me!

Oh no, I've got my shoes on the wrong feet again. I'm glad Snow White is around to help me.

It's lovely having a woman around the house again. It makes me realise how much I've missed female company.

I hope Snow White has made my bed. I could do with a sleep.

Let's hope Snow White has dusted the house. My nose is getting really sore!

I used to be nervous around girls, but Snow White is so lovely!

One day my prince will come – so I must make sure I always look my best. I don't want to ruin my nails so the housework will have to wait!

So she's lovelier than me is she? Well I'll soon make that mirror take back those words. Snow White was always a sucker for a sob story – so this disguise should do the trick.
