Presentation

Introduction

In the busy business of hospitality, being the best is not just a goal it is more like a compulsion.

As Maldron Newcastle hotel is always committed to safety, they promise to meet those goals and go above and beyond them.

This presentation will describe the health and safety guidelines that employees need to follow.

Further the presentation will provide a training plan which will aid the business in training their employees in health and safety.

Agenda

Understanding the Health and Safety Guide

The issue talks about a lot of different subjects, from general safety rules to more specific instructions on how to use cleaning products, handle emergencies, and handle other situations.

Well-organized for easy reading, letting you quickly find important details while doing daily jobs (Uysal et al., 2018).

The goal of the context is to be useful by including check lists, cases from our workplace, and pictures.

This makes it easier to understand and urges people to be safe by themselves.

Learn the guide inside and out will help you face problems head-on and make the workplace safer.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)

- Gloves are an important safety item that keep from getting harmful contact or poisoning.
- Latex gloves are great for general cleaning, while nitrile gloves are great for working with chemicals (Iuliana et al., 2016).
- Wearing an apron will protect from stains and spills.
- With goggles on, individuals can protect their eyes from moving objects and splashes.

Ergonomics in Housekeeping

Musculoskeletal disorders like backaches and ankle sprains are less likely to happen if you follow good ergonomic practices (Bunakov et al., 2015).

Increased Productivity and Efficiency: Working in a nice and useful space may help you get more done (Tasci, 2020).

When employees take care of their bodies, the workplace is better and happier.

Chemical Safety

Learn the names of the cleaning products we use. There are safety marks and names of chemicals on the labeling of each bottle (Gonzalez et al., 2019).

A lot of different chemicals have different uses. It is important to know how to use disinfectants and spot removers correctly so that they are not misused by accident

Safe Handling Practices

Carrying the Right Safety Gear (PPE) . Gloves and masks are very important for safety when working with chemicals. This is very important for keeping your face and eyes safe (Batinić, 2016).

Before working with poisons, make sure the area has enough air flow. If you don't want to breathe in the smoke, open the doors and windows.

Proper Disposal

FOLLOW THE RULES:
CAREFULLY READ THE
STICKER AND DO
EVERYTHING IT SAYS BEFORE
THROWING THIS AWAY.
EXTRA CARE NEEDS TO BE TAKEN WHEN HANDLING OR GETTING RID OF SOME CHEMICALS.

GUESTS MUST FOLLOW THE
HOTEL'S INSTRUCTIONS ON HOW TO REPORT A SPILL. IT IS IMPORTANT TO REPORT THE
SPILL RIGHT AWAY SO THAT IT
CAN BE CLEANED UP
QUICKLY AND PROPERLY
(HAYES ET AL., 2017).

Emergency Procedures

Know how to use fire extinguishers and where to get them (Rutherford, 2021).

Everyone should follow the directions to leave the building in case the fire gets out of hand and call the nearest fire station for help.

When putting out a small fire, only use the PASS method (Pull, Aim, Squeeze, Sweep) when it is safe to do so.
