Video evaluation

In this video I carried out a time lapse of my time visiting New York City and New Jersey. I flew out there for 10 days from Christmas day to the 5th of January. Whilst out there I gathered photos and videos of different perspectives and various iconic sights such as Central Park and the Freedom tower which replaced the Twin Towers and surrounding complex, which were unfortunately destroyed by terrorist attacks on September 11th, 2001. I also visited Staten Island and had experienced travelling on the Staten Island ferry to get to it, which travelled very close to the Statue of Liberty which gave me the opportunity to gather various video clips in slow motion and great camera shots of the Statue of Liberty. From visiting NYC, I was able to take amazing high-quality photographs of many famous landmarks such as the Rockefeller Center, 9/11 memorial site, the Charging Bull, Times square and Wall Street. Also, I had the opportunity to visit an art museum called the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) which had on display the oil canvas painting, which was painted by Vincent Van Gogh called the Starry Night, I managed to get up close it and take close photo shots of it. Furthermore, I travelled mainly by using the trains in the underground which I managed to get great shots of whilst using the subway. The trains which took me from New jersey to NYC which allowed me to get off at the Oculus. The outside of the Oculus looked spectacular, I managed to get photographs and short recordings of various angles. I went through Chinatown which had many scenic aspects to it and going through Chinatown it provided me with very effective and exceptional perspectives from the ground and above using my iPhone.
