

Kate Cooper

Kate shapes an innovative research programme at The Institute of Leadership & Management designed to inform, inspire and impact the practice of great leadership wherever it happens. Her role is informed by her career as a senior academic in a university business school, focusing on strategy, leadership and professional development.

Kate is also a conference keynote speaker, internationally, and provides expert commentary on a range of topics arising from the Institute's research agenda. She is regularly quoted in regional, national and international media, has appeared on both BBC television and radio, is a Forbes contributor and has a regular column in Dialogue Review, the business magazine for leaders.

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/kate-cooper-finstlm-fcilg-17886715/>

Ursula Tavender

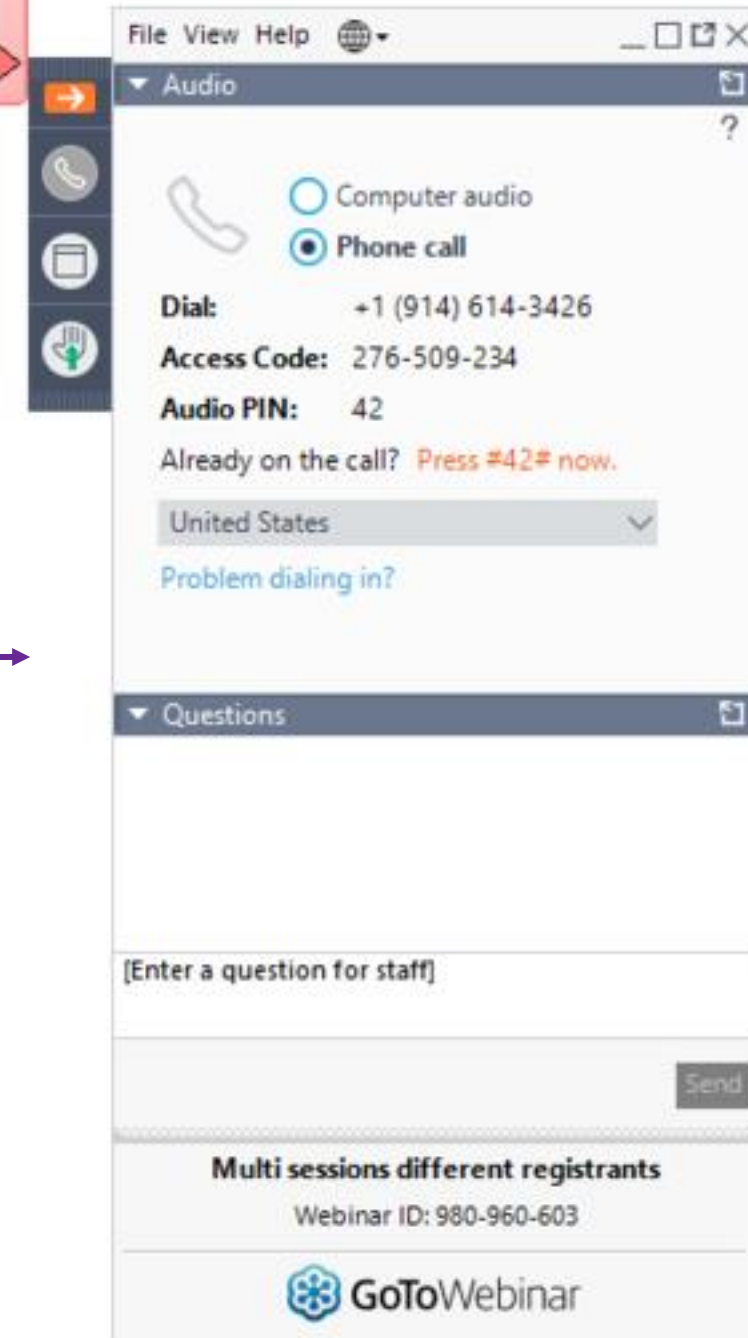

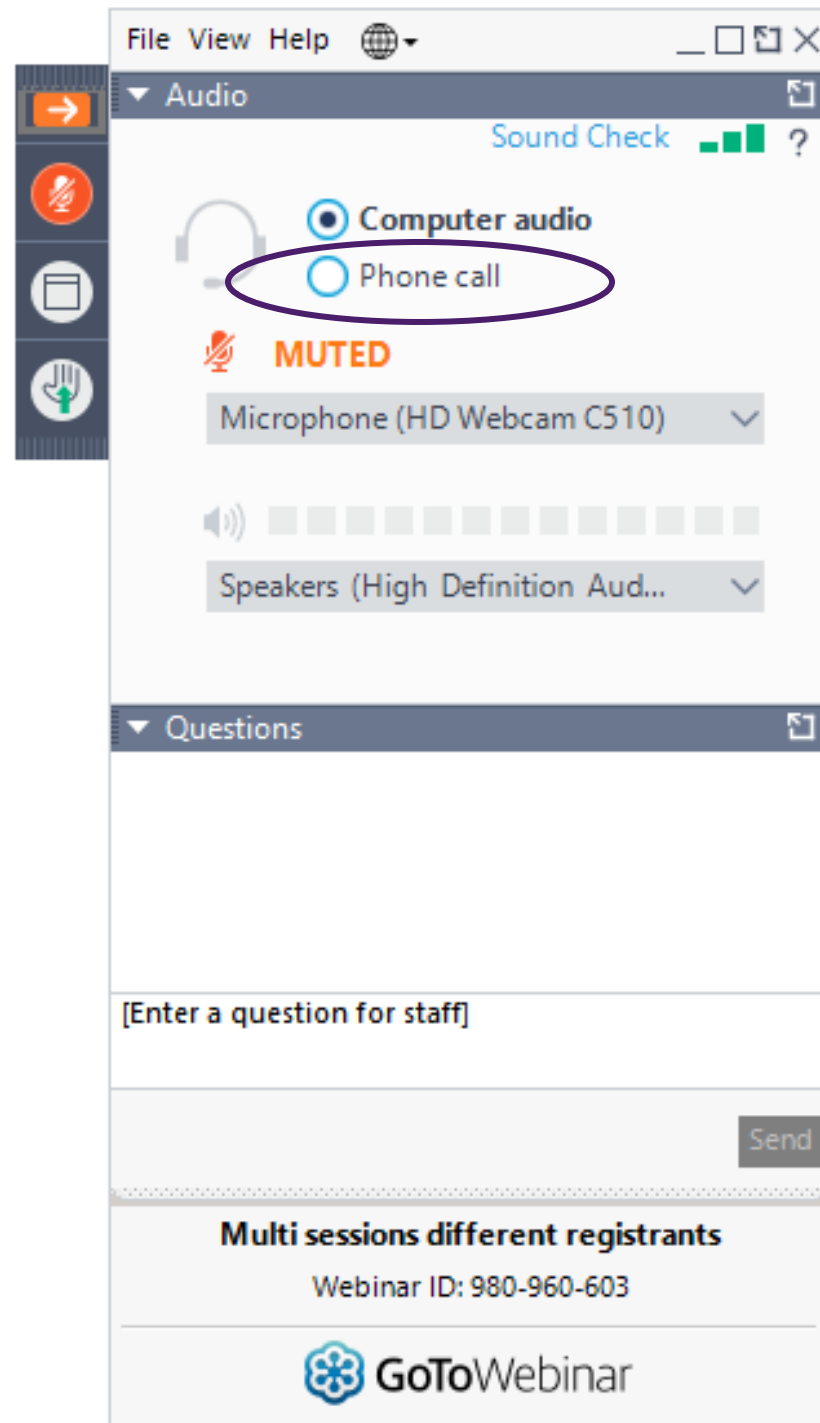

Ursula Tavender is founder of Mumbelievable™ and creator of the Taking Care of Business consultancy, helping businesses increase support, inclusion, flexibility and progression opportunities to attract and retain a richer, more diverse and talented workforce.

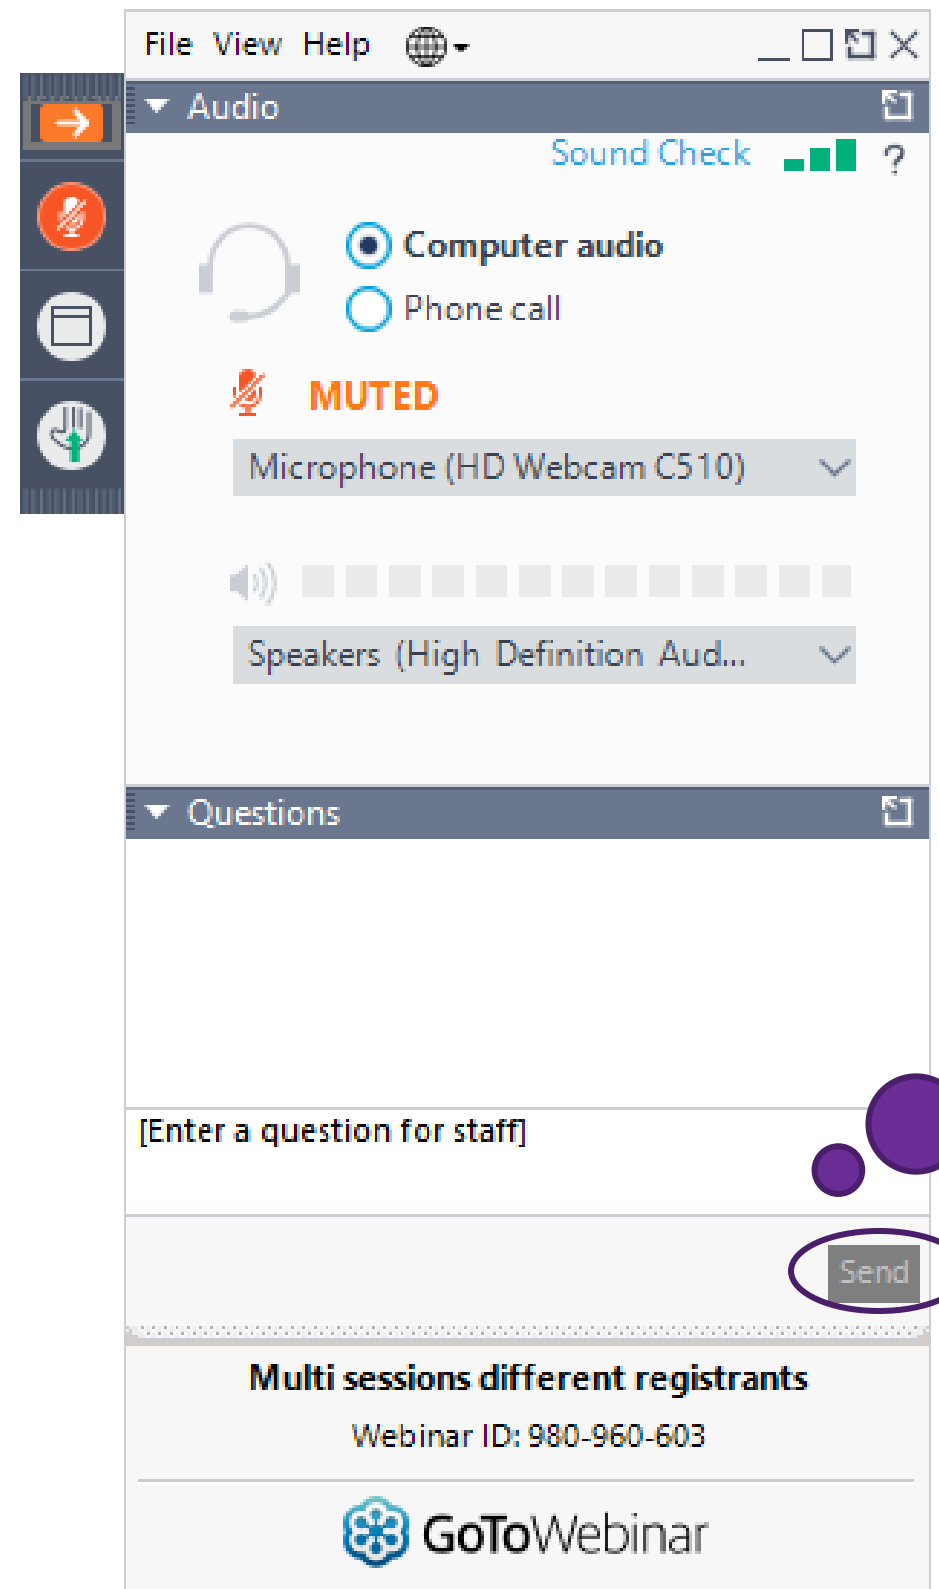

She designs simple solutions that increase productivity and retention, reduce costs, increase satisfaction and loyalty and strengthen the female talent pipeline.

She is also a regular speaker on the issues of supporting parents, flexible working and the gender pay gap.

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/ursula-tavender/>

Hello!