HIMALAYAN FEAST (Fast and fresh for everyone). It is the name of our wave side specially focusing on the base of Nepalese and some other Asian food business plan, we created this wave side after 06/06/2018, during these digital skill classes we learnt about how to design wave side on our business plan in managing enterprise in 21'st century.

what is wave side?

website.

When we started to learn about how to create wave side, first of all we opened our google account then opened Bingo, after then we apply weebly wave site to create. At the beginning of the lesson it was so confused and hard to understanding the way and the steps need to be applied to create that wave side but when we started to learnt and our lecturer teach us so smoothly it became so easier to catch up and then became more interesting. So finally we are able to create our own wave side now.

What does this mean?

When we create our wave side we used some of the very beautiful pictures of Himalaya downloading from the google photos, to make wave side attractive, then we used few photos of Nepalese special food and some other popular Asian food, in our menu, which we are going to introduce in the market after opening our restaurant in the Swansea city. We have designed our menu as well. First of all these food are very different and new taste for the customers, so we try to explain about it in our menu. Secondly we are going to serve fresh food, mostly live cocking and service will be very fast because in our menu most of the food can be cocked in between ten minutes, another important message in our wave side for the customers is that most of the people are conscious about their health in this this modern age they are health conscious so nowadays people likes to eat less oily food and likes to use fresh vegetables fresh raw materials. So our main target is to provide healthy and fresh food for the customers. Which are mentioned in our wave site. In this way, we try to design and create attractive and clear wave site mentioning all these relevant elements.

During these classes I learnt so many new ideas about IT and developed so many computer skills and knowledge which are very important and useful for my work place and it is helpful for my career and also useful and essential skill in any kinds of profession in my life. Especially this wave site designing skill we can use in our daily and the professional life. In this modern technical and IT World. We use wave site in everywhere in school, colleges, Universities, markets, social Medias, hospitals, most of the work places also uses their own wave sites, so it is so important and essential to know about the computer skills and wave site in our personal and professional life.

Actually I learnt so many new skills and built my IT skills during this sort period of time which I never learnt before in my life. After this class my self confidence level became higher and inspiring me for the further study in this field.

During create and design the wave side in our team we all contributed equally and work together helping each other.

Thank you.
