IMPACT OF THE VIRTUAL
LEARNING ENVIRONEMENT

1.0 INTRODUCTION TO THE REPORT

OVERVIEW OF LEARNING ENVIRONEMENT(LE)

Virtual learning environment is an online platform used for educational purpose. Refers to the diverse physical locations, contexts, and depends culture in which students learn. They present resources, activities, and interactions within a course structure and provide for the different stages of assessment, and we learn more this.

2.0 BACKGROUND (SECONDARY RESEARCH)

The vital components of our education ICT service: Internet it s more safety. Communication and collaboration between learners and teachers Providing a safe and secure.

Student benefit from being taught by people who are at the cutting edge of their field, using their research to insights and up-to-date knowledge to enhance. Challenges

- ⇒ Making decisions strategically.
- ⇒ Recruitment of academic staff.
- ⇒ The discipline of students.
- ⇒ Lack of attendance.
- ⇒ Lessening in the involvement .
- ⇒ The uncertainty of student outcome.

Learning management systems. Collaboration tools with people

IT risks is include hardware and software failure, human error, spam viruses and malicious attacks, as well as natural disaster such as fires cyclones .With respect to electronic signature laws, business owners should be aware of at least the following two pieces of the legislation: the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act (UETA), and the Electronic Signatures in Global. Opportunities Computer Programming. Computer programmers write code to make computers, software, and other applications to run successfully.

Data Visualization.

Information Systems.

3.0 AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THIS RESEARCH (SET YOUR AIMS AND OBJECTS)

Virtual learning environments (VLEs) are widely used in education, in many sectors, typically to deliver instructional materials and facilitate communication.

Positive impacts of the use of VLEs on student learning are supported by a study (Scaramella & Bereiter, 1996) in West Virginia, USA.

Creating Measurable Outcomes.

Present accessible to learning the materials.

Automate your online content materials.

Primary data (also referred to as raw data) is the data you collect first-hand directly from the source. In this case, you are the first person to interact with and draw conclusions from such data, which makes it more difficult to change it.

Should be a paragraph within the research paper.

Consider all the requirements (spacing, margins, and font).

4.0 METHOD (PRIMARY RESEARCH) (250 words).

During my research, secondary research approach was used and applied to collect quantitative and qualitative data as it helps me to understand the services available in environment, technologies required to have VLE, benefits, drawbacks and the challenges in faced by university students. Secondary research is information statistics and other data that primary researches have already studied and documented for the VLE.

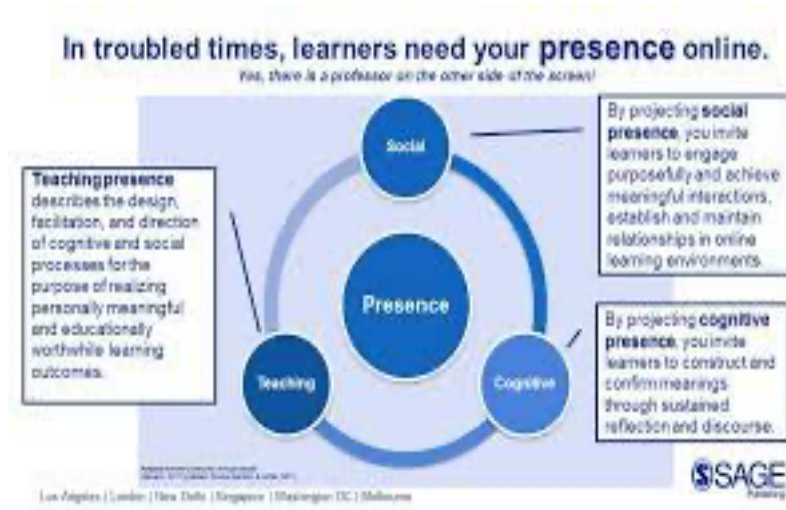

Afterwards, primary research approach was conducted to collect quantitative and qualitative data related to our university Moodle. The method is to collect as much information as possible and everything is better to study more, and to find more information. Learning processes, facial recognition.

out the VLE and it's a common tools offered on a VLE are: online quizzes email and discussion forms with students. We can create ,designed . It s run under the Moodle system .It s useful in understanding and try to finding materials including the VLE.

Conclusion

The conclusion is intended to help me to understand why your research should matter to them after they have finished reading the paper. Is not merely a summary of the main topics covered or a re-statement of your research problem, but a synthesis of key points and, if applicable, where you recommend to new areas for future research. For most college-level research papers, one or two well-developed paragraphs is sufficient for a conclusion, although in some cases, more paragraphs may be required in summarizing key findings and their significance. Typically, only data from the last two research might be suitable for finding methods, although as we'll see later it isn't always a completely straight forward decision and when documenting research it is reasonable to justify the choice of analysis to prevent the reader believing that the analysis that best supported the hypothesis was chosen rather than the one most appropriate to the data.
