

A MUPPETS CHRISTMAS CHAROL

ANNA, ASHLING, CALLUM, GRUFF AND MILLI

Virtual collaboration		production roles
So that we could all add to the poster we decided to create it on Canva, where we were all able to contribute. We also organised our ideas through a group chat. We established that working together in person avoids miscommunication.		Production roles based on our skills: - Ashling chose Costume and set design - Gruff chose Stage Manager - Anna chose Theatre director - Callum chose Sound Technician - Milli chose Marketing

SWOT
Ashling was given her role because she has experience with textiles, design and modelmaking. Gruff was given their role because of their past experience with handling backstage crews and their endurance in doing so over many years! Milli was given her role because she is skilled in poster making and advertising. Anna was given her role because of her drive and desire for directorial leadership opportunities. Callum was given his role because he is familiar with sound softwares and technology.

I found working in my group quite challenging as most of us work best in very different ways and we struggled a bit with communication and focus. I ended up taking charge of creating the poster and trying to keep our group focused as we struggled to start the poster. After we created a collaborative document, where we were all able to work at the same time, we focused more as everyone had something to do. Overall, we worked quite well once we had worked out what each persons tasks were and we began adding our work to the poster.
