

ASAKAA BOYS:
KUMIASI DRILL
(VOL. 1)

The Asakaa boys are a collective of young rappers who are taking the exciting new Ghanaian drill sound of Asakaa to international heights, and in the process have become unlikely creative ambassadors to the city of Kumasi. 'Asakaa' loosely translates to the word drill, paying homage to the viral genre that originated on the south side of Chicago.

The collective has become the face of street culture in Ghana, representing a distinct style, fashion and lifestyle that has been incorporated into national youth culture, and embraced by the diaspora and wider international rap audiences. In September 2020, the then 18 year old Yaw Tog, one of Asakaa Boys key players dropped his anthemic debut single Sore, which went viral and resulted in a collaborative remix with U.K rap royalty Stormzy.

Asakaa Boys: Kumasi Drill is a groundbreaking 12 track compilation, featuring the hottest acts from the scene set to take Kumasi Drill and the Asakaa Boys global heights. The collective have gone from strength to strength, amassing an impressive social media following, due to their word play, beat selection, distinctive branding and fashion sense. Yaw Tog and Stormzy's track Sore reached 6.9 million streams and 7.3 million Youtube views.

Before his untimely death, the collective were co-signed by the visionary Virgil Abloh, who mentored it's members and kitted them out in Off White. He interviewed them on his Apple Music Radio Show Televised_Radio.

They also have notable co-signs from rap royalty like Headie One, Vic Mensa and the late Pop Smoke, who is the main inspiration behind their sounds.
