In your scenarios you need to describe how the user uses the app to complete the task – what do they see and do?
 Looking at the scenarios in detail would give you more information for the user requirements.
 Card sorting and brainstorming are both good. You should say how many people you used for both this and the persona development focus groups. Good noting location-based service for food.
 Remember to put all of the book/journal/website up in the reference list. The wireframes
 The wireframes should be labelled to show what each control does.
