Development of ideas

The first idea I had for this project was hyperreality, and while I would like to pursue this idea in the near future, I would need more time and to do more research on this subject matter, but I first started looking at Jean Baudrillard and Winkler and Noah (The photos are on the next slide)

Current idea

I decided to change it to focus on my relationship and how it has helped me. I did this by taking pictures of his body that help me or of moments that either made me laugh or made me appreciate our relationship.
