Student name:		Student ID number:
Programme:	BA/MArts Humanistic Counselling
Module:	Counselling Specialisms and Populations
Module code:	ECHC6002	Contribution to Overall Module Assessment (%):	75% Assessment 1 of 2
Lecturer:	Ruth Groff	Internal Verifier:	Catherine Slade
Assignment Title:	Assessment 1 Written Assignment: Report Format Critically evaluate a presenting issue and a client population with reference to current theory, research and practice.	Word count (or equivalent):	6,000 words
Submission deadline:	Tuesday, 26.01.21 23:59pm	Return date of provisional marks & written feedback:	23.02.21
Submission method:	All written assessments, where practical and possible, must be submitted via Turnitin unless otherwise instructed by the Lecturer. (Please DO NOT put this assessment specification into Turnitin or it will match many similarities with other students' submissions.) Turnitin Submission Late submission of the assessment will result in a late penalty mark. Penalties for late submission: Up to one week late, maximum mark of 40%. Over one week late, 0%. Only the Extenuating Circumstances Panel may approve a change to submission dates
Academic honesty / referencing:	Academic honesty is required. In the main body of your submission you must give credit to authors on whose research and ideas your work is based. Append to your submission a reference list that indicates the books, articles, etc. that you have used, cited or quoted in order to complete this assessment.

Module Learning Outcomes
(from module syllabus)

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to demonstrate the ability to:

- Critically analyse ethical dilemmas and work with others as necessary, to formulate appropriate responses.
- Critically appraise a range of theoretical approaches to practice.
- Synthesise relevant research evidence or organisational guidance to ensure an appropriate therapeutic response for specific clients.
- Apply a range of appropriate strategies and interventions in work with specific client populations and client issues.

TASK DESCRIPTION

Written Assignment: report format

Critically evaluate a presenting issue and a client population with reference to current theory, research and practice.

Within this 6,000-word assignment, consider a presenting issue that impact on a specialist population. It will be your choice but here are some examples:

Presenting Issues	Populations	Specialisms
Loss – Bereavement	Older Person/CYP/LGBTQ	Bereavement/Grief Work
Loneliness - Covid	Young Adult/Older Adult	Bereavement /Grief work/ Logotherapy/other
Eating distress	Young People	Counselling Mental health/Family Therapy/ Other
Self-Harm/Suicide	Young People/Adult/Older Adult.	Working with MH/Working areas to prevent suicide
Addictions – Substance Misuse	Homeless Population/ Young People/ Adult/ Others	Addictions Therapist/Counsellor
PTSD due to domestic violence	People who suffer from domestic violence	Trauma/Domestic Violence

REPORT is to consider:

1. Currency within the presenting issues and population

You will explore the currency of the presenting issue and in particular in relation to the specialist population. Taking into consideration the historical and current scholarly literature and research within these areas that may include government documents/papers, NHS/NICE guidance, mental health charities, and other reputable resources.

2. Theoretical approaches and interventions

Evidencing current theoretical approaches and interventions for your issue/population; Evidence-based and practice-based approaches and arguments

3. Ethical considerations

Evidence an understanding or exploration of possible ethical consideration within your presenting issues/population.

4. Conclusion - Recommendation and Implications

Are there any recommendations or further implications that need future exploration? Are there any other considerations?

Further guidance within the module.

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF TASKS

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five generic assessment criteria overleaf.

1. Engagement with Literature Skills

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set; you should make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources, where appropriate (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using a suitable referencing system, including in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list at the end of your work.

Guidance specific to this assessment: Engagement with current scholarly material is essential for your report. Extend your knowledge with theoretical approaches that support the work in areas of specialisms and populations within counselling and psychotherapy. The use of government policies, NHS/NICE guidelines and other research institutes will provide critical knowledge for additional practitioner's guidance.

2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills

At level 6, you should be able to demonstrate coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of the subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. You should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and systematic understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Guidance specific to this assessment: Demonstrate a detailed systematic approach to your report and research within your chosen topic area. Provide a critical and compressive awareness and understanding of current theoretical approaches and interventions that are evidence-based or practice-base evidence within the research of counselling and psychotherapy.

Same as above.

3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills

You should be able to: critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data some of which are at the forefront of a discipline (and that may be incomplete) to devise and sustain arguments, to make judgements and/or solve problems; describe and comment upon particular aspects of current research, or equivalent advanced scholarship, in the discipline. Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing what! But also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At what cost? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

Guidance specific to this assessment: Evidence a critical awareness of the history of ideas; the cultural, social and political context that inform and influence specialisms, theoretical approaches, and populations you are considering in your report. Aim to synthesise and analyse the background information critically and succinctly, you need to demonstrate that you have considered this analysis within the report. Consideration of ethical implications, exploration for limitations and challenges and future solutions and research within your chosen topic.

4. Practical Skills

At level 6, you should be able to apply the methods and techniques that you have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply your knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. You will deploy accurately established techniques of analysis and enquiry relevant to the discipline, and apply them in complex and unpredictable contexts, to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. You should be able to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations and/or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context or circumstances, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, or to create artefacts, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world artefacts, examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one theory or organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Guidance specific to this assessment: The report format is practical with respect to your exploration of your chosen topic; linking theoretical approaches to practice. Problem solving and providing potential solutions, but being critically aware of limitations and challenges.

5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice

Your work must provide evidence of the qualities and transferable skills necessary for graduate-level employment requiring the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility and decision-making in complex and unpredictable circumstances. This includes demonstrating: the learning ability for professional development to advance existing skills and acquire new competences of a professional nature that will enable you to assume significant responsibility within organisations; that you can initiate and complete tasks and procedures, whether individually and/or collaboratively; that you can use appropriate media to effectively communicate information, arguments and analysis in a variety of forms to specialist and non-specialist audiences; fluency of expression; clarity and effectiveness in presentation and organisation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

Guidance specific to this assessment: : A number of transferable skills for life are required in this assessment, such as, the ability to identify a specific research question that will be the basis for your report, synthesise and understand contemporary theoretical approaches with various populations and its application to counselling and psychotherapy practice. Problem solving for potential solutions and awareness of challenges and limitations. Digital literacy and desktop research skills into an area of specialisms/populations within counselling and potential for further professional growth.

STUDENT FEEDBACK FORM

This section details the extent to which the assessment criteria are demonstrated by you, which in turn determines your mark. The marks available for each category of skill are shown. Lecturers will use the space provided to comment on the achievement of the task(s), including those areas in which you have performed well and areas that would benefit from development/improvement.

GENERIC ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Level 6

In accordance with the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications, at the end of Level 6 students should have coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of their subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. They will be able to accurately deploy established techniques of analysis and enquiry within a discipline, using their conceptual understanding to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. They should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. They should be able to critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data (that may be incomplete), to make judgements, and to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. They will apply the methods and techniques that they have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply their knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. They will have the ability to manage their own learning, and to make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). They will demonstrate the qualities and transferable skills necessary for employment requiring: the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility; decision-making in complex and unpredictable contexts; the learning ability needed to undertake appropriate further training of a professional or equivalent nature.
