First Marker's General Comments and Original Mark The introduction introduces the sections in the Literature Review. A suitable structure and relevant topics covered, which includes evidence of scholarly research. The conclusion sums up the important points covered. You have provided an evaluation of the project and your outcome, which backs up the research in your literature review. You have also confirmed the project aim and objectives have been met. A simple yet affective application, which works well and meets most of the project objectives. A very neat structure with a table of contents, clear section headers and page numbering. The style is also good with an appropriate use of fonts and font sizes. Your spelling and grammar is good and your academic writing skills have improved greatly. You have made use of a good range of credible research-informed literature and have followed the referencing conventions correctly.	65.5
