

MA ISLAMIC STUDIES

Encyclopaedia and Reference Works

A large number of encyclopaedias have appeared in electronic form. Two significant works relating to Islamic Studies are available via the Library

Brill Online Encyclopaedia of Islam: New Edition.
Oxford Islamic Studies Online

These can be accessed via <http://www.trinitysaintdavid.ac.uk/en/lrc/onlineresources/e-books/>

You will require an Athens password to access these materials.

Other significant reference works include atlases: examples relating to Islamic Studies include:

Hugh Kennedy, Historical Atlas of Islam (2nd Revised Edition, Leiden: E.J. Brill, 2002).

David Nicolle, Historical Atlas of the Islamic World (New York: Checkmark Books, 2005).

Ninian Smart, Atlas of the World's Religions (New York: Oxford University Press, 1999).

In the area of the study of the Qur'an, there are a number of detailed encyclopaedic works from diverse perspectives. The Qur'an featured in two recent encyclopaedias:

Jane Dammen McAuliffe et al. (eds), Encyclopaedia of Qur'an (Leiden: Brill Publishers, 2001-2006).

Oliver Leaman, The Qur'an: An Encyclopaedia, (New York, Routledge, 2008).
