Unsure whether Philosophy is for you?

Philosophy concerns every aspect of our lives, practical as well as theoretical. Through its grounding in real social relations and human activities, it seeks to understand and address the spectrum of social, ethical, environmental and political issues of today. Through Philosophy, we are able not only to understand life, but to shape it.

If you want to develop life-enhancing skills and the power to influence change, then a postgraduate degree in Philosophy is for you. It's a great investment, whether you want to stand out from the crowd applying for jobs, gain a promotion or simply learn more about a life-long interest alongside like-minded individuals. You'll benefit from a learning environment in which our staff are research-active, and our students come from across the globe.

89% of our postgrads. agree that their skills in critically analysing and evaluating findings and results have developed during their programme - Postgraduate Research Experience Survey 2015.
