The Social Model of Disability

2.The Medical Model

- The Medical Model expresses that disabled people are the problem.
- It is also known that the medical model says that only professionals can cure disabled people.
- Opinions today suggest that the medical model is becoming more under pressure.

3.The Progress in Disability Policies.

- The Warnock Report (1978) sparked legislation that protected the policy of inclusion, and it changed the way we talked about disability.
- The Education Act (1993) pushed for inclusive and put a legal requirement on schools to provide SEN Code of practice.
- The Salamanca Statement (UNESCO June 1994) calls on the international community to endorse the approach of inclusive schools by implementing practical and strategic changes.
- UNCRC(2004) is part of the planning and policy making for the children and young people. Wales became the first country to make UNCRC law.
- The Equality Act (Oct 2010) was introduced to bring all the acts together to make it easier to understand the law and help apply it.
- Educational Tribunal Act 2018 (ALNET) and Additional Learning Needs will replace the current Special Educational Needs (SEN) framework with a reformed system based on Additional Learning Needs (ALN).

The ALN/SEN Reform

- What are the reforms ? The name 'special education needs(SEN)' will be replaced with 'additional learning needs(ALN)
- Why is it changing ?.....The needs
- What will happen ? Welsh Government, Local Government, Legislation and statutory guidance.
- The 11 Aims of the Act.....
- Workforce development..... Core Skills, Advanced Skills, Specialists skills developments.
