1. Introduction

This is a portfolio for a forthcoming day event at Tileyard organised and managed by the group (myself, Emma, Giza, Edina, Anja, and Kirsten). As a remote group, we held regular video calls and used a WhatsApp group to maintain communication. In the first meeting, we discussed initial event ideas and allocated roles based on our expertise. Despite having specialisations, we agreed to take on multiple roles across different skill sets to ensure a successful event launch. Beech et al. (2014 pp. 75-76) emphasises that all organisations, regardless of size, need a structure to influence their operation, with smaller event companies requiring their teams to take on multiple tasks.

The group agreed on the below roles as our specialism, which would be carried out alongside other necessary tasks as they arise:

- Elle – Marketing & Partnerships
- Edina – Event Admin, Budgeting
- Kirsten – Overseeing Role
- Giza – Health & Safety, Risk Assessments, Licensing
- Anja – Marketing & PR, Ticketing
- Emma – Logistics, Scheduling, Programming / Artist Liaison

Expanding on the statement from Beech et al. above, an 'overseeing role' is more suited to a larger organisation where tasks and communication are much more complex (2014, p. 76), so I would argue this role did not work on this smaller scale. A Project Manager role would be suited, which is a crucial part of the event management team. The role of the project manager aims to integrate management plans from all different knowledge in the group into a cohesive, workable plan for the entire project (Bowdin et al., 2011, p. 257).

During the course of the event planning these roles became more fluid, where tasks were actioned outside of the assigned member's responsibilities, which will be described throughout the portfolio.

2. Event Conceptualisation and Ideation

A crucial stage is creating a shared vision for the event. A mood board was created (Appendix B), and included ideas around the event purpose, target audience, venues, and scheduling. It channelled creativity and aligned ideas with the event theme. This became an ever-developing reference for ideas around the event.

Appendix B - Moodboard (link to doc here)

Based on group voting, the below are the final details of the event:

- Name: Tileyard Presents: Fusion
- Mission: To celebrate and nurture talent from Tileyard and the surrounding area. To position the campus as a thriving, vibrant and bright community that actively contributes to the global music community
- Target Audience: 18-34 year olds, London, music students and music enthusiasts
- Date & Time: Thursday 14th September 2023, 4pm until 11pm (Campfire until midnight)
- Venues: The Gallery (Panel Talks), The Vinyl Cafe (Live Performances) and Campfire (DJ sets)

3. Venue Programming and Management

The decision to host the event at multiple venues across Tileyard allows multiple programming to take place, adding value to the overall event. Its central location and reputation within the music industry provided a unique advantage where we can promote an event which offers both inspirational talks from industry professionals as well as showcase local and up-and-coming talent.

As part of the group's multi-tasking, we decided different members will be in charge of each of the venues. We divided the venues as per below:

- The Gallery - Emma and Anja
- The Vinyl Cafe - Edina and Giza
- Campfire - Elle

	Capacity	Hours of business	Tech	Accessibility	Sustainability	Cost	Available	Other info
Campfire	200 seated 500 standing	12pm - 12am (most people usually on site 6-9pm)	2 x RCF 912 PA speakers Backline is hired from FX rentals or John Henry Campfire will help with what tech we need for live PA			E3k running cost on a Sat must be hit, then share of profits is given to co-promoters	9 September	We need to make Risk Assessments, poster/Schedule and a soundcheck/stage schedule for each venue, MC for each venue, QR code sign up for Vinyl and Campfire, Who is Venue manager for each venue, do we need to hire staff for any venues? do we need security for each venue?

Giza visited Tileyard for a recent event, Gear Fest, and provided useful on-the-ground insights around how other events have been managed in the same location. One takeaway was the addition of a food truck, on top of the food already provided at Campfire. This could open up an additional revenue stream by either charging a pitch fee or agreeing to a revenue share of sales.

Hey Dom

Hope you're well!

We're launching a brand new event at the Tileyard campus next month. If you don't already know, Tileyard is a vibrant music hub, home to the world's largest community of independent artists and businesses.

The new event is called Fusion - where we'll be hosting a range of panel talks from creatives and professionals in the industry as well as packing out two music venues with live music and DJs.

We'd love to book the Naania Food truck for the event. Please could you let me know your availability for September 5th from 4pm - 11pm?

Below is a picture of where the food truck would be positioned:

Let me know if your availability and what additional info you will need?

Thanks
Elle

Hi Elle,

Thanks for reaching out!

We are available that Thursday and your event sounds great.

However, to make it worth the effort there are a few considerations:

1. Minimum 150 punters per stall
2. An accessible water source (preferred)
3. Nearby waste containers (preferred)
4. An accessible power port (I can bring my own 16V cables, I just need a place to plug in)
5. I would need to be sited between 2 and 3pm to give me enough time to set up and prep

If you can meet these requirements then fantastic! Drop us an email at enter@naania.co with more juicy details.

Oh and one last thing, we are 100% plant based and so we will not be able to cater to any guests that are looking for food of the meaty variety.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Dom

4. Key Stakeholders

It is crucial to always keep key stakeholders and their interests in the event in mind in order for the event to be sustainable and ensure the event is a success (Beech et. al., 2014, pp. 24-25). If one of these stakeholders shows dissatisfaction of the event in the planning stage, the event organiser runs the risk of not being able to launch it entirely. Key stakeholders for the event are as follows:

- The Gallery Venue Manager
- The Gallery Staff
- The Vinyl Cafe Venue Manager
- The Vinyl Cafe Staff
- Campfire Venue Manager (Leo Elstob)
- Campfire Staff
- Public
- Panel Speakers
- Hosts
- Artists
- DJs
- Islington Council
- Food Vendors
- Volunteers

5. Licensing

According to Islington Council (the borough Tileyard is located in) an Temporary Events Notice will need to be obtained in order to run the event. A Temporary Events Notice (TEN) is a licence designed for smaller events which propose the sale of alcohol, or provision of late night entertainment (Islington, n.d.). Appendix M (link here). shows a TEN form which would need to be completed and sent to Islington Council.

6.1 Event Management Plan

The Event Management Plan (EMP) will be shared with the Venue Managers and Islington Council, giving them full details of the event runtimes and key contact details. Appendix N shows the EMP document (link here).

Appendix N - EMP

6.2 Risk Assessment

As per the venue requirements stated in Appendix O (link here) a risk assessment document will be required to launch the event, detailing all possible risks whether in control of the event organiser or not. It will be submitted to SAG in the local Islington authority.

RISK ASSESSMENT

The purpose of this risk assessment is to identify potential hazards and assess the level of risk associated with the FUSION at Tileyard event that will take place in King's Cross, London.

Event Name : FUSION at Tileyard
Date of Event: 14/09/23
Time: 4pm - 11pm
Location: Tileyard Road Kings Cross N79AH
Maximum attending: 440 + (60 Staff and volunteers)

The event will be held across three different venues at Tileyard:

- Campfire which is an open bar area - capacity of 200
- The Gallery - Capacity 70
- Vinyl Cafe - Capacity 125

Barriers will be installed at the reception area and the main entrance gate on Tileyard road, and at the vinyl cafe parking lot entrance to control the flow of attendees and prevent overcrowding. Security personnel supplied by the venues and contracted by the event team, will be stationed throughout the event venues, to monitor crowd behavior and respond to any potential incidents or alterations.

Numbers of Security guards:

Main entrance / reception area: 3

Campfire site: 2

Vinyl cafe area: 3

Number of staff/volunteer on site:

Main entrance/ reception: 3 ticketing assistants - 3 at main entrance checking wrist bands

Vinyl cafe area: 3 tech / 3 stewards (min.)

Gallery (Guest speakers panel): 3 Stewards

Campfire area: 3 tech / 4 stewards

Appendix O - Risk Assessment

6.3 Show Stop Procedure

There are multiple reasons why the event may have to perform a 'Show Stop', such as adverse weather or crowd safety issues. The Show Stop procedure outline is at the end of the Risk Assessment document in Appendix O (link here). For the future, I would create a separate document for this to keep required documents organised correctly.

					3. Food vendors have to be Food hygiene certified.
					4. Correct PPE to be worn whilst handling food.

Show Stop Procedure

The event show stop procedure should be established to address any immediate threats or emergencies that may arise during the event. The authorized personnel will be responsible to initiate a Show Stop and ensure that all necessary steps are taken to safely evacuate attendees from the venues.

This procedure should include steps for quickly alerting staff and attendees, directing them to safe areas or exits. The event management team should have a comprehensive emergency management plan in place to handle any unforeseen circumstances. This plan should outline protocols for responding to medical emergencies, fires, severe weather conditions, and other potential risks.

The temporary show stop procedures will involve:

Immediately suspending the activities in the venue which incident took place and directing attendees to disperse and evacuate the venue in an orderly manner, while activating communication channels to inform attendees of the show stop and provide updates on the situation. Crowd management procedures should apply

Example of situation:

- Crowd issues / altercation
- Major technical issues causing risks to artist or public
- Crowd collapse
- Major Fire

- Terror threat
- Security breach
- Adverse weather

A permanent show stop would involve:

Immediately suspending all activities at the event and initiating an evacuation process of all three venues. In case of fatal incidents, off site events, extreme weather conditions etc... It would also involve directing attendees to evacuate the site and coordinate with emergency services if necessary.

The risk assessment for the FUSION at Tileyard event addresses the potential risks associated with mass gatherings and focuses on crowd management, venue safety, and emergency preparedness. This includes measures such as limiting crowd size and density, installing barriers to control crowd flow, ensuring clear signage and instructions for attendees, establishing a show stop procedure and having security personnel and staff trained to respond

7. Marketing and Promotions

Marketing the event is a crucial task, particularly for a small scale event in a vibrant location. There are many events which happen at Tileyard, so it is essential to ensure the event stands out against the noise. For the future, I would recommend applying a deeper strategy to the marketing, branding and promotions in order to be able to successfully market the event. A simple SWOT analysis tool is extremely helpful in organising information by strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats, ensuring the event organiser analyses the event capabilities, competitors and consumer behaviours in order to market successfully (Preston, 2012, p. 64).

7.1 Branding

Anja created several potential logos for the event using Midjourney, as shown in Appendix P. A logo was chosen, and would be visible across all promotional material including the website, social pages and posters.

Appendix P - Logo ideas

7.2 Online

A website mock has been created (Appendix Q), which will act as the primary online destination to find out more information on the event. The website can be found here.

Appendix Q - Website mock (Fusion, n.d.).

Social Media pages (Appendix R) were also created in order to run paid social ads as well as create organic content. The type of content posted will be relevant and trending topics, resharing content from the artists and guests on the line up and sharing content captured on the day.

Appendix R - Social media pages

An email address was also created for the event - fusiontileyard@gmail.com, which will be promoted as the main contact for any customer queries. For the future, this email address should be part of the Project Management criteria with all email communications using the group email address to ensure all event organisers have access to email conversations.

7.3 Posters

Posters are an effective way of promoting local events. We will design a striking poster detailing all the key features of the event including:

- Event Name
- Date and time
- Line up snapshot
- Where to purchase tickets and prices
- Social media handles
- QR Code

Appendix S - QR code I generated, to be added to the posters so passersby can easily scan and submit their details to play at the event

7.4 Media and Marketing Plan

We set a small budget of £400 in total to promote the event on social and on posters across Tileyard and the local area. There will also be non-paid marketing strategies to promote the event including:

- Features in Tileyard Insider newsletter, accessing Tileyard's student and professionals email subscriber base
- PR communications to local music and creative businesses and media outlets to achieve editorial promotion. Targeted websites include The A&R Factory, XS Noize and The Playground

- Reaching out to local Influencer and Tastemakers around Tileyard to post on their own social channels
- Booked artists and panel speakers to promote event on their own social channels

7.5 Sponsors

A sponsor for the event would be beneficial for both the sponsor and the event organiser. The sponsor would have direct contact with up to 500 music students and music professionals, and the event would benefit from funding to reinvest into the experience.

Sound on Sound Magazine were the sponsor for Gear Fest, and will be on the hit list of sponsors to contact and sell a package.

Sponsorships

Get together a sponsorship package to help mitigate costs of the event, and give sponsors the opportunity to be in front of a young, creative audience and industry professionals

Gearfest x Sound on Sound Magazine - recent sponsorship at Tileyard

Budget aim:

£1,000 (could go higher if renowned hosts and artists are on the bill)

Sponsorships - What We Can Offer

Lead sponsor would have:

- Branding across all 3 venues and entry point (mixture of banners, logo projections)
- Branding across all marketing material (online and offline)
- Host mentions
- Own speaker or speaker slot
- The opportunity to reach and engage with up to 500 music enthusiasts

Budget aim:

£1,000

Appendix U - Sponsorship Package ideas (in mood board)

8. Ticketing

Choosing the right ticketing partner is essential for an event where multiple venues with their own capacities are in place. Some options for the ticketing partners and key features based on Kirsten's research include:

- Eventbrite (preferred)
 - £40 for unlimited tickets

- Ticketsource
 - Booking fee, to be absorbed by customer
- Eventix
 - Booking fee based on %, to be absorbed by customer
- Ticket Bud
 - 2% ticket fee, 2.9% process fee

As with all events, there is the risk that there would be a crowd surge to one particular venue so it is crucial to allocate the correct number of tickets per venue. Some of the group members suggested selling 500 tickets to access all areas, however this raises crowd safety concerns for The Gallery and the Vinyl Cafe which would have 70 and 200 respectively.

As a solution, I would recommend:

- 500 tickets (standing) on sale for Campfire (£5)
- 70 tickets (seated) on sale for The Gallery (+£5 add-on)
- 200 tickets (standing) on sale for The Vinyl Cafe (+£3 add-on)

This ticketing system whereby attendees purchase add-ons to a basic ticket would ensure we do not go over capacity at the smaller venues.

9. Financing and Budget

A WIP budget sheet had been created by Kirsten to keep a track of event costs, as shown in Appendix T. The budget sheet is not yet tracking revenue through potential ticket sales and sponsorship packages, so I would recommend using a templated version for the budget sheet, which includes ready made formulas and visual graphs to easily keep a track on profit margins.

10. Final Reflection

Whilst good progress has been made for planning the event with much of the groundwork done, there are a lot of learnings to take from this project. The key learning is to ensure a Project Manager is assigned, as the lack of this role was noticeable throughout the process. The lack of role resulted in long decision-making and unclear communication. A clear strategy of timelines from the start, with the use of a Gantt chart, showing what tasks need to be completed by when. This would have helped us work towards a common goal rather than in a siloed way.

Before the event takes place, an evaluation would be critical to ensure all event organisers are observing, measuring, and monitoring the implementation of the festival, deciding whether the event should go ahead. To be objective, using a third party could be an option (Bowdin et al., 2011, p. 191). At its current stage, I would conclude the event needs refinement from an organisational perspective before launching, which I believe is achievable but perhaps not in the current time frame. Therefore, I recommend moving the proposed event date by one to two months to ensure these strategic processes can be implemented.
