

Press Release

Glitch festival is bringing electronic music back to Hertfordshire. With a capacity of 3000 people it is sure to be an intimate weekend of House, Disco and Techno. Taking place in the location of former festival Farr, Glitch has stripped it back to basics by returning to a two night line-up and bringing the capacity down from 9000. Each stage will be hosted by well established London nights and although the line-up remains secret, it promises to pack many surprises. With an onus on good sound and nothing more the festival will be equipped with the most up to date Funktion-One sound systems.

The festival is 18+ and will run from the 16th to the 17th of July 2021. Tickets start at £100 and finish at £150 and include free parking. It is a camping only festival and no day tickets will be available, to ensure those who come will get to know each other over the weekend. The festival will run a leave no trace policy and have banned the use of single-use plastics.

Press enquiries contact:
Fergus Brooman-White
fergus.brooman@gmail.com

Email to be shared by each of the stage curators

Glitch Festival promises to bring music back to Bygrave woods. Following the end of Farr festival our favourite woods have been barren of sound for far too long. We at glitch aim to offer a communal dance festival open to all and everyone. Brought to you by the team behind the new London based night House Party, we are asking our friends and family from Fever 108, Sista Sista, Tessellate, Peach Party and Houseplants to bring their favourite records and their favourite guests. All headliners will be kept secret until the weekend, but just look at the names each night has had feature throughout the years. Safe to say we are very excited.

We have decided to keep the festival small this year, keeping it down to 3000 of you lovely people to make sure its a very family feel around the place. We all know many people have great memories of the forest itself, so we are keeping the music located within these hallowed wooden walls. We've got the forest for two days only (to let you all get some rest on Sunday eve before you return to the daily grind on Monday) but music will be sure to go on loud and late. So come on down to Bygrave Wood on the 16th and 17th of July. Earlybird on sale now for £100. We will be offering you the chance to pay in installments from now until the weekend before, if you can't see yourself dropping that right away.

See you there and much love,
The glitch family