Task 2

Research

Topic about nurse

Presentings

Pros and cons of working as a nurse.

Challenge you faced

According to my research, I conducted a fairly extensive survey on the nursing profession around the world and realized that in certain places there are several challenges to being a nurse and providing quality care to the entire population, especially the most needy and vulnerable, intense workload emotional and phisical stress,profissional and salary devolution(especially in deprived and vulnerable areas)stressful work enviroment

Actions to improve-

In some situations and places, teamwork and leadership are very important to create a comfortable environment for dealing with situations that get out of control, such as overcrowding in emergency rooms and ICUs. Because, as people and professionals, we are dealing with lives, teamwork, leadership, and good communication are crucial for a harmonious environment that provides the utmost care for human beings.

Continuo training (Because nurses must constantly stay informed and trained on current health developments, such as new viruses, bacteria, and protozoa, as well as vaccines and other medical advancements, this is very important for improving the professional quality of these nurses.)emotional,inteligency,empath,teamwork and leadership selfcare and wellbing ,career planning

Further steps need to prepare for task 3

To move on to task three, I will do more research to clearly explain the Manchester triage system: emergency, urgent, and non-urgent.

Children's Hospital,general hospital,emergency Hospital and GP

X thats no hard

X the context it was good

Xthats no hard in my research

X I research with detail

X i hill have more time in the time

X i need more time to continue my reseach and develop strategies to produce a high-quality research and presentation.
