A stone marker with a red dragon painted on it, standing on a grassy hill. The dragon is red and has its wings spread. The stone is white and has some other markings on it. The background shows a vast landscape with green hills, a town, and mountains in the distance under a cloudy sky.

Whispers on Garth Hill We climb where skies and silence meet,
Past sheep that graze and birds that tweet.
The city's hum fades far below,
As winds through wild grass softly blow.
Each step a breath, each view a balm,
The hill a place of healing calm.
My children laugh, the path unfolds,
In nature's arms, our story holds.

Weve reached the top, what an accomplishment

The views are breathtaking

Garf mountain at night.....
What a delight.

Skylark's Song

High above the fields so wide,
A skylark sings with joy and pride.
Its silver notes in morning light,
Turn dawn to gold and sky to flight.

No stage but air, no crowd but breeze,
It trills its tune with graceful ease.
A song of hope, of sky and sun,
A hymn to life just begun.
