- Dim ond 14 y cant o'u hamser y mae plant yn ei dreulio yn yr ysgol
- Nid yw ysgolion (ac unrhyw leoliad BC) yn gweithio ar eu pennau eu hunain.
- Gall gweithio mewn partneriaeth gymunedol gefnogi gwaith ymgysylltu â theuluoedd yr ysgol, cryfhau ysgol mewn ffyrdd eraill a chyfoethogi bywyd ysgol.

- Children spend only 14 per cent of their time in school
- Schools (and any EY setting) do not work in isolation.
- Community partnership working can support the school's family engagement work, strengthens a school in other ways and enrich school life.

British Council Wales (2021)

Our vision is founded on our own beliefs and experiences but greatly enhanced by our overseas visits and research. The model below is adapted from The Children's Aid society, New York.

By nurturing families and the community in this way we give our pupils the very best chance to achieve. This enables us to bridge the poverty gap.

Our vision...

- Happy children learn
- To support the child effectively we must support the family
- To support the family effectively, we must support and embrace the community
- On site multi-agency support for families and the community supports us in this vision.
- This is most effective when we engage with children & their families from a very early age.

“At the end of the day, the most overwhelming key to a child's success is the positive involvement of parents.”
- Jane D. Hull

Theori – Y “dull seiliedig ar le”

- Mae'r dull seiliedig ar le yn ddull sy'n canolbwyntio ar yr unigolyn, o'r gwaelod i fyny a ddefnyddir i ddiwallu anghenion unigryw pobl mewn un lleoliad penodol trwy weithio gyda'n gilydd i ddefnyddio'r adnoddau gorau sydd ar gael a chydweithio i ennill gwybodaeth a chanfyddiad lleol.
- (Munro, 2015, ar-lein)

Theory -the “place based approach”

The place-based approach is a person-centred, bottom-up approach used to meet the unique needs of people in one given location by working together to use the best available resources and collaborate to gain local knowledge and insight. (Munro, 2015, online)
