IMMORTAL FABRIC: THE LEARNING OF THE IMAGINATION

Wednesday 11 March 2026

Organised by the Temenos Academy, reg. charity 1043015

In association with The Harmony Institute, University of Wales Trinity Saint David

Venue Old Hall, UWTSd, Lampeter Campus, Ceredigion SA48 7ED

JULIA CLEAVE is an independent scholar with a special interest in the Pythagorean, Hermetic and Christian Mystery traditions as they are to be found, still largely unacknowledged, in Renaissance and Early Modern art and literature. Her previous lectures at Temenos have included studies of works by Leonardo, Botticelli, Giorgione and Poussin, and of three plays by Shakespeare. Her essay: 'An alchemical reading of Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra', is available on the Temenos Academy website. She is a Fellow of the Academy and a member of the Council and Academic Board.

PROFESSOR MARY-ANN CONSTANTINE is a Professor at the University of Wales Centre for Welsh and Celtic Studies. She works in the field of Romantic-era Welsh literature and history, with particular interests in the cultural politics of the 1790s, travel, and environmental change. She has also written two volumes of short stories and a novel.

REVD. MALCOLM GUITE is a poet and priest, and Life Fellow of Girton College, Cambridge. His books include Sounding the Seasons; Seventy Sonnets for the Christian Year (Canterbury 2012) and Mariner: A Voyage with Samuel Taylor Coleridge (Hodder 2017). In 2023, he was awarded the Archbishop Lanfranc Medal for Education and Scholarship by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He is a Senior Fellow of the Trinity Forum. He has a YouTube series called 'A Spell in the Library' at <https://www.youtube.com/c/MalcolmGuitespell>
