

Copeland Gallery

Peckham has become London's cultural epicentre. Housing a wide variety of small business owners as well as an energetic cutting edge artistic and music scene.

Copeland Park is situated directly in the heart of it all, formally an old industrial cricket bat factory site, which has found a new use in the early 2000s as a space for artistic studios, galleries, bars and music venues. It has now grown to be Peckham's cultural hub.

Copeland Gallery, a white walled space, over 4000 square foot is in the center of the site. A prime location that has regularly plays host to art exhibitions, events hosting (Converse) filming locations (Vice, BBC + Channel 4), studio photography and music recordings.
