About

educated to Masters level. I have demonstrated strong adaptability and a proactive approach to developing new skills. Following the completion of a PCET teaching qualification, I progressed into the role of Digital Skills tutor for Learning Pembrokeshire where I supported adults within the community to build confidence and enhance their digital capabilities.

I am now proud to be working for the University of Wales Trinity St David as a Digital Skills Advisor. I support both students and staff to improve their digital skills as well as their self-assurance through the delivery of both online and in-person sessions and workshops creating accessible learning materials, and providing one-to-one support tailored to individual needs. As part of The Digital Skills Team, I have contributed to The DigiCentre a dedicated website designed to support and promote digital skills development.

I am particularly passionate about developing teaching materials and delivering them effectively but also creatively using technological enhanced tools where necessary. I also enjoy problem - solving and helping individuals be the best that they can be digitally!
