? What's next?

To support the UK's Vaccine programe, a new transport scheme will be launched in the summer of 2021. This will be implemented to help cement the current success of the vaccine rollout, and aid infection rates in order to ensure the fall in new cases in the UK is permanent.

Small single-seat vehicles will be implemented in the same fashion rental bikes are, in cities and other hotspots to reduce the use of conventional public transport and the risk of infection that comes with it. Not only will the pods offer isolation, they also create a convinient and sustainable mode way to get from A to B with an electric powertrain and self charging capabilities, perfect for short journeys around an urban area.
