Lesson Evaluation

The 'Dyma Fi' lesson was a successful lesson by all learners achieving the learning outcome intended, by enabling learners to write a short paragraph introducing themselves in Welsh using key vocabulary and sentences patterns. Engagement levels from the learners were high throughout the whole lesson, this was particularly during the listening and reputation starter and the slot drillio activity. These activities helped learners with both their pronunciation and confidence when speaking Welsh. The starter activity helped learners with their sentence structures such as "... ydw I", "Dw I'n byw yn .." and "Dw I'n hoffi ..". Many learners showed improved fluency and pronunciation by the end of the lesson.

The writing task was accomplished by all learners, with most having completed paragraphs of 4-6 sentences using sentence starters, the use of the example paragraph helped support learners that needed extra support with the structure of their paragraphs.

However, a few learners completed their work quickly and would've benefited from more extension opportunities, such as incorporating more complex language, conjunctions or opinions. In future lessons, differentiation strategies will be strengthened to challenge these learners.

Overall, the lesson was positive, with clear evidence of learning. My next steps will be to continue regular slot drillio to keep building on and improving learners' confidence and pronunciation.
