ASSESSMENT

Assessment Component 1 & 2 – 100% of Module Marks

Two written reports – 3000 words $\pm$ 10% each

TASK DESCRIPTION

Over the course of the term, you will produce a portfolio of work on a range of topics that demonstrates their ability to write reports, use their mathematical and IT skills to interpret and present basic data to support their written report. You will be asked to comment on the legal risk of a number of scenarios related to the hotel. Each component would have identical weightings and different deadlines as mentioned below:

Section	Deadline	Submission	Description	Size
1	19/06/2020	Moodle Upload via Turnitin	You are required to analyse your current academic and employability skills using these analytical tools: SWOT and PDP. You required to prepare and submit a report outlining how you intend to use these skills to find employment in the in the hotel and hospitality industry.	1500 words
2	19/06/2020	Moodle Upload via Turnitin	Produce a report based on what you have learned from the module. In your report, analyse the legal legislative risk that managers and employees need to consider in the hotel industry. Areas to consider are; liability, data protection, health and safety, food hygiene, risk management, licensing, including key provisions within Hotel Proprietors Act 1956.	1500 words

Please remember that, in addition to your written work for submission, you are expected to read, research, engage with learning materials and study in your own time.

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF TASKS

General Submission Guidance

- 1. All of your submissions must include a title page that clearly states your name, your student number, the module code and title, your lecturer's name, and your assignment title.
- 2. All of your submissions should be typed in Arial font, size 11.
- 3. All of your submissions should be typed with 1.5 line spacing.
- 4. All of your submissions should have an appropriate structure, include page numbers, and have a reference list.

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five common assessment criteria. There are no specific percentages allocated to different sections of the report. All grading criteria will be marked across the report as a whole.

Research-informed Literature

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set. You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list that is alphabetical at the end of your work. Please use the Harvard referencing system.

Knowledge and Understanding of Subject

Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Analysis

Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing What! but also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. There should be no new information presented within your conclusion. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

Practical Application and Deployment

You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Skills for Professional Practice

Your work must provide evidence of the attributes expected in professional practice. This includes demonstrating your individual initiative and/or collaborative working. You must communicate effectively in a suitable format, which may be written and/or oral, for example, essay, management report, presentation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

- Programme of Study Handbook.

MARKING CRITERIA AND STUDENT FEEDBACK

This section details the assessment criteria. The extent to which these are demonstrated by you determines your mark. The marks available for each criterion are shown. Lecturers will use the space provided to comment on the achievement of the task(s), including those areas in which you have performed well and areas that would benefit from development/improvement.
