Comments: Q1. Despite having to cut short the exam due to ill health, you've presented a sophisticated answer to the first question, revealing an understanding of both the principle of equal entitlement & the population principle. You provide a well-balanced evaluation of two of the main criticisms, although you would do well to discuss in detail trading (i.e. emissions quotas) that can safeguard the interests of poorer countries. You could also show awareness of the different normative stances that may underpin approaches to climate change. 80.
