

Week 1 Tasks

Dear student,

Welcome to week 1 of the Introductory Compulsory Module.

There are a number of tasks you should complete this week.

The first is to go on to the on-line Forum for the week and introduce yourself. Write a little about yourself, as little or as much (within reason), as you wish.

The second is to familiarise yourself with the broad outline of the term's work, especially the assessment requirements. Unless you have good medical reasons, it is difficult, if not impossible, to accept work that is submitted after the deadline at the end of term. Also, because the assessment items are structured in a logical sequence, it will be difficult to start the final essay unless you have successfully completed the first two short essays.

The third is to peruse the rest of the Moodle page, including the information you will find above the weekly sections on this module, and on the general MA in Cultural Astronomy and Astrology page.

And lastly, please print-out and complete the week's reading on 'Culture'.

And finally, a reminder: if you should run into difficulties of any sort, whether organising your time, coping with the material or encountering major crises, please let me know as soon as possible.
