Module Learning Outcomes (from module syllabus)

3. Evidence independence of thought and critical evaluation in the production of an independent piece of work, demonstrating transferable skills through exercising initiative and personal responsibility in planning own learning and self-management.
4. Organise their knowledge and learning through use of a range of media, and present their work appropriately in a manner that can be understood by specialist and non-specialist audiences.

TASK DESCRIPTION

Independent Design Project / Competition. This Project serves as an opportunity to showcase your critical thinking, design acumen and creative output in presenting a body of work in response to a self-generated project brief or external competition. The aim is that you will apply, consolidate and extend your learning in a different contextual framework i.e. a major project alter ego. Alternatively it may compliment/support your major project – the choice is yours. The outcome should complement your portfolio & doesn't necessarily have to be a vehicle if you have alternative career ambitions. You have the opportunity to experiment and explore, culminating in a professional submission that demonstrates new approaches, perspectives, ideas and resolutions. You are expected to present these in an innovative and appropriate manner. Final submissions should act as a showcase for your design thinking and practice. In addition to the academic requirements, you will be expected to meet the prescribed deliverables demanded in the external brief and submit accordingly.

SUBMISSION DELIVERABLES:

1. Research & Development Portfolio Professionally presented R&D pack with evidence of contextual research, product analysis, idea generation, sketch work, research & development (ergonomic & technological analysis with regard to your design development), storyboarding of user interaction, product or vehicle architecture/layout etc. (A3 landscape format)

2. Design Proposal: Presentation Visuals of the Design Outcome This execution should clearly communicate the design intent and outcome through the following professionally composed presentation visuals (A3 landscape format):

1 x Storyboard or Mood/influence board

1 x Design outcome – Perspective view

1 x Design outcome – Perspective/illustrated view of your choice

1 x Design architecture or Package Drawing

Text description (100-150 words on A4 template) clearly communicating the design proposal/concept.

Submission Deadline: By 2:00 pm Wednesday the 5th January 2022

Digital submissions:

A 'OneDrive' folder will be set up by your tutor named: ACHA6013 Auto& Transport 2021-22 with sub folders; ACHA6013_1-Dev Pack & ACHA6013_2-Design Proposal. Drag your files into the folders by the deadline.

Please name your (PDF) files as follows:

1. Research & Development Portfolio: ACHA6013_RDev 2021-22_SURNAME FIRST INITIAL– then a number suffix 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 if submitting individual files.
2. Design Proposal: ACHA6013_Proposal 2021-22_SURNAM FIRST INITIAL – then a number suffix 6, 7, 8 if submitting individual files.

Note: ideally compile your files as a PDF book or Power Point presentation.

You will be provided with written SUMMATIVE feedback by 2nd February 2022.

Assessment Criteria:

The project will be assessed in relation to the specified deliverables as follows:

- LO3 using the common assessment & marking criteria 5
- LO4 using the common assessment & marking criteria 2 & 4

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF PROJECTS

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five generic assessment criteria overleaf.

1. Engagement with Literature Skills (Marks Available: 0 out of 100)

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set; you should make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources, where appropriate (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using a suitable referencing system, including in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list at the end of your work.

2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills (Marks Available: 20 out of 100)

At level 6, you should be able to demonstrate coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of the subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. You should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and systematic understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- Evidence of vehicle architecture and/or Human factors (for vehicle project only)
- Show appropriate project specific technical understanding

3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills (Marks Available: 25 out of 100)

You should be able to: critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data some of which are at the forefront of a discipline (and that may be incomplete) to devise and sustain arguments, to make judgements and/or solve problems; describe and comment upon particular aspects of current research, or equivalent advanced scholarship, in the discipline. Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing what! But also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At what cost? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

4. Practical Skills (Marks Available: 40 out of 100)

At level 6, you should be able to apply the methods and techniques that you have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply your knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. You will deploy accurately established techniques of analysis and enquiry relevant to the discipline, and apply them in complex and unpredictable contexts, to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. You should be able to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations and/or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context or circumstances, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, or to create artefacts, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world artefacts, examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one theory or organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- Assimilate and apply a wide-ranging body of practical explorations through 2D/3D drawing and materiality.
- Organise extensive research which clearly communicates your own ideas, through the application of advanced technical skills in established and innovative processes pursuing sensitivity and excellence in idea realisation.
- Apply rigour to record keeping, to evidence and sustain your increasingly independent practice.

5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice (Marks Available: 40 out of 100)

Your work must provide evidence of the qualities and transferable skills necessary for graduate-level employment requiring the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility and decision-making in complex and unpredictable circumstances. This includes demonstrating: the learning ability for professional development to advance existing skills and acquire new competences of a professional nature that will enable you to assume significant responsibility within organisations; that you can initiate and complete tasks and procedures, whether individually and/or collaboratively; that you can use appropriate media to effectively communicate information, arguments and analysis in a variety of forms to specialist and non-specialist audiences; fluency of expression; clarity and effectiveness in presentation and organisation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- Demonstrate those attributes expected in professional practice including individual initiative, project management, collaborative working and inter-personal skills.
- Present your work professionally, applying attention to the conventions of Sketchbook, Research Journal and portfolio practice.
- Communicate your ideas in a coherent and consistent style with due consideration to the reader/audience.

STUDENT FEEDBACK FORM (UG)

This section details the extent to which the assessment criteria are demonstrated by you, which in turn determines your mark. The marks available for each category of skill are shown. Lecturers will use the space provided to comment on the achievement of the task(s), including those areas in which you have performed well and areas that would benefit from development/improvement.
