Overall an excellent report on the design and development your product. Extra care should be taken to include referencing and improve the overall standard of your report.	100	71
1. Engagement with Literature Skills
Even though you have provided an excellent depth of gaming concepts, there is no external referencing used throughout the document. It was expected you would include a reference section and reference throughout the document.	20	8
2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills
You have provided excellent knowledge of the product supported with excellent statements on game design and how the product works. The quality of the report is overall very good, however more external referencing is required to gain higher marks.	15	11
3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills
Observations are excellently presented and your use of game design is excellently presented. Adding some form of pre game development story would have gained extra marks. For example 1st draft sketches, basic game map etc.	15	12
4. Practical Application Skills
The report was excellently presented in the report. However when including images etc remember to label them and give them a caption. Also include header and footers on pages. Inclusion of code snippets and discussions around those were excellent.	20	16
5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice
You have displayed excellent communication and team working skills through the use of team meetings and taking on a lead role within the team. It is important that you delegate work and don't take on too much as this could impact your own performance. The report is presented in a professional manner. However if you use acronyms make sure you include a glossary to help the reader understand the report.	30	24
