

In silent concerts, floating symbol audience captured the demeanor and movement through assumptions and reactions, there were whispers, some people checked their ears in disbelief, as if they heard an invisible symphony, while others were still suspicious or depressed. The paradox of silent music is enhanced by the surreal dreamy atmosphere.