

Final major project proposal

For my final years project i would like to go traveling around the country and i would like to explore my family's heritage, i would be doing a deep investigation as to where my family is from on both my mum's side and my dad's side i will be learning all about where they lived and some very interesting stories along the way. I'm hoping to travel to where these stories take place and take photographs of where they happen and maybe play around with reenacting some of them to make the photos more interesting.

Not only would it be fun and interesting for me because it feel like it would be interesting from the viewers to see and also i would get to travel around a bit since COVID 19 took that away from all of us it would be amazing to do again , This is also something i have never done before but have always loved knowing about my families history and it is something new that could surprise me about my family as right now i know very little but i do have some picture of deed's of where my mum's side of the family has lived i also have the picture of the houses they lived in.

Visual diary/blog

As of yet I haven't done any artist research as I haven't found anyone who peaks my interest but I have begun on researching who my mum's side of the family was. I know that they have been a french queen somewhere in our bloodline i also know that they was a murderer called Charlie peace, i know of some places where the peace family originated from and i also know that a lot of out family got married in a church called Stanninoley and i'm also getting a family tree drawn up today.
