

Academic and Employability Skills

My Intended Career Fashion Designer

Name: Sara Petrova

Student ID: 2030506

Module code: BMSW4001_LON

Lecturer: Anita Nan

Introduction

- Today I will talk about my intended career that is Fashion Designer, and what I need to become successful Fashion Designer.

Fashion Designer

Fashion design has become highly competitive today. If you want to pursue a career in this industry, you will have to work harder and develop several other skills. The glamour. The fame. The art of creative details. Becoming a fashion designer promises all this and more. But is the love for designing clothes enough to become a good designer? Fashion is art. Wearable art. So, it's important to understand Art History in order to understand the history of fashion. Courses in the Philosophy of Art can also offer great tools for expressing your ideas and putting them into the right context. Nowadays, graphics are everywhere, even in fashion. Scissors and paper alone won't do the trick.

Intended Career

My intended career is fashion designer. Since when I was little girl, I was always playing with pencils, wooden pens, scissors and glue and I was decorating clothes for my dolls. While I was growing up I started realising that I really love what I do and I would like to continue with that and one day to become fashion designer. My mom is an artist so I was always looking at what she was doing and I was always around her. I won a few competitions for designing in school. And in high school I was the best one in arts. So in the future I would like to open my own atelier where I can decorate and realise everything that will come to my mind and surprise and make happy all my clients. Because fashion is for everyone. And Fashion is

Responsibilities and Skills

My responsibilities as Fashion Designer are to always take care of the customers, to develop new pieces that are fashionable and to choose good quality of materials for it. To know what I deal with and to be successful in it.

SWOT ANALYSIS

Strength

Huge confidence and motivation

Decision making skills

Good communication abilities.

Huge cooperating abilities.

Independence in the whole operational process

Quality of products

Quality of materials

Fast delivery of new product

Weaknesses

Lack of time management skills.

Lack of leadership ability.

High Level of flexibility.

Opportunities

To work in all complex situations.

To improve leadership skills.

Threats

Difficulty in time management skills.

Difficulty in managing time.

Difficulty in conducting analytical work.

Academic and Employability Skills

The development of academic and employability skills facilitates all around professional development of an individual. The several essential skills such as communication, leadership, decision making, analytical skills, facilitate enhancement of professional abilities.

Conclusion

In conclusion to become a fashion designer we need to have big knowledge for the materials and the process of making every piece for our customer. Fashion designer is not so easy job so it is a little bit stressful for us and we need so much time to make everything as it should be for our clients to be happy with their products.

Reference

<https://www.usnews.com/education/best-colleges/articles/how-to-become-a-fashion-designer>

From Internet

Kornelakis, A. Petrakaki, D., (2020). Embedding employability skills in UK higher education: Between digitalization and marketization. Industry and Higher Education, 34(5), pp.290-297.