

Description 01

In the Changemakers Creativity module, I engaged with ideas, tools, and activities aimed at helping individuals think creatively and make positive change. The module covered concepts like divergent thinking, innovation frameworks, and real-world examples of social entrepreneurs. I also participated in group discussions, creative exercises, and reflective tasks to explore how creativity influences meaningful social impact.

Feelings 02

At the start, I felt curious but also slightly misunderstanding about how "creativity" applied to me personally. As the sessions progressed, I started to be more confident. I learnt how creativity is not only about my artistic ability but also about how I will solve the problem-and solve the challenges. Sometimes it was overwhelmed by open task, but I also felt satisfied when I realised, I could come up with an original idea

Evaluation 03

There were several positive aspects of my learning. The activities most of the time encouraged collaboration with peers and I enjoyed hearing different views from peers. The practical tools, such as brainstorming methods or design-thinking helped me approach challenges in new ways. Sometimes I have struggled with uncertainty when tasks required abstract thinking. Group work could also be challenging when everyone wants to do different task, but these moments taught me the value of constructive discussion

.Analysis 04

Changemakers Creativity let me understand that creativity can be useful.it showed me how diverse viewpoints strengthen creative solutions and how vital it is to continue open-minded. Also showed me the connection between creativity and social impact

Conclusion 05

Overall, the experience expanded my understanding of creativity and my confidence in using it. I learned more about my strengths such as idea generation and collaboration and recognised areas for improvement, including managing uncertainty and developing ideas more deeply. The learning has made me more aware of the role I can play as a changemaker.
