TASK DESCRIPTION

Title:

Utilising the Entrecomp Framework, critically evaluate your own creativity and enterprise skills and consider how you might be able to develop the creative and enterprising skills of primary learners through your own pedagogy.

Word count: 5, 000 words for written assignment (or 10% above or below). The words within the appendices are not 'counted'.

This assignment requires you to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the importance creativity and to use the Entrecomp framework to critically evaluate your own creative and enterprising skills. The response should draw upon evidence to support this self-evaluation. Your response should also outline and justify how you intend to develop the creativity and enterprise skills of your primary learners. You should clearly identify what strategies and approaches will you use and support your recommendations from appropriate research.

Essential Reading

This assignment requires that you show knowledge and understanding of Assessment for Learning and that you understand the impact that this for effective primary learning and teaching. Readings have been provided on Moodle (within Module handbook and specific session sections) and you must also utilise other readings that you identify independently.

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF TASKS

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five generic assessment criteria overleaf.

1. Engagement with Literature Skills

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set; you should make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources, where appropriate (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using a suitable referencing system, including in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list at the end of your work.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Markers will be looking for:

- The writing to include critical analysis and evaluation of wide, deep and appropriate background reading.
- Relevant synthesis of research and government documentation should be utilised to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of creativity and enterprise skills.
- Appropriate background research for the personal recommendations identified. Supporting principles/ theories that underpin the discussion/ reflection and strategies proposed.
- Range of evidence to support the identification of strategies discussed. Who agrees with the pedagogy identified? What are the specific benefits/ challenges/ research base/ models or methods of progression? (Educational writers, case studies, wide research)
- Reference to key 'Creativity' and Enterprise skills researchers.

2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills

At level 6, you should be able to demonstrate coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of the subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. You should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and systematic understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Markers will be looking for:

- Clear evidence of very good understanding of creativity and enterprise skills, no glaring errors.
- A clear understanding of the importance of creativity and enterprise skills in education and the wider world.
- Appropriate knowledge and use of the Entrecomp Framework.

- An outline of 'why we should be developing creativity and enterprise skills within education' (Highlighting benefits/ NC links/ initiatives/ current thinking/ Donaldson etc.)
- The importance of creativity and enterprise skills for the teacher.
- Knowledge of current pedagogy and approaches that support the development of creativity and enterprise skills within learners.

3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills

You should be able to: critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data some of which are at the forefront of a discipline (and that may be incomplete) to devise and sustain arguments, to make judgements and/or solve problems; describe and comment upon particular aspects of current research, or equivalent advanced scholarship, in the discipline. Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing what! But also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At what cost? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Markers will be looking for:

- Knowledge of the Entrecomp Framework, the benefits/ uses/ limitations.
- Critical evaluation of personal creativity and enterprise dispositions, linked to the Entrecomp Framework, including examples and evidence of current level.
- Clear recommendations for future personal development with regards to identified areas of creativity and enterprise skills and how you might develop these to the next level and demonstrate progression.
- A clear understanding and ability to identify own current creativity level and awareness of proposed progression and continuity of personal development.
- Clearly identified reasons for recommendations, supported with a variety of data.

4. Practical Skills

At level 6, you should be able to apply the methods and techniques that you have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply your knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. You will deploy accurately established techniques of analysis and enquiry relevant to the discipline, and apply them in complex and unpredictable contexts, to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. You should be able to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations and/or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context or circumstances, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, or to create artefacts, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world artefacts, examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one theory or organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Markers will be looking for:

- A good understanding of not only the principles and theory but also the practical issues when implementing strategies to promote personal progression.
- Evidence of understanding of the practical implications of the strategies proposed when developing learners creativity.
- Examples of proposed recommendations.

5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice

Your work must provide evidence of the qualities and transferable skills necessary for graduate-level employment requiring the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility and decision-making in complex and unpredictable circumstances. This includes demonstrating: the learning ability for professional development to advance existing skills and acquire new competences of a professional nature that will enable you to assume significant responsibility within organisations; that you can initiate and complete tasks and procedures, whether individually and/or collaboratively; that you can use appropriate media to effectively communicate information, arguments and analysis in a variety of forms to specialist and non-specialist audiences; fluency of expression; clarity and effectiveness in presentation and organisation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Markers will be looking for:

- A high level of professionalism in dialogue.
- Critical reflection of reading and experience demonstrating independent and original thought.
- Accurate referencing and academic writing skills.
- Evidence of wide and deep background reading to support the reflection. Case studies, research, journals etc.
- Allocated word count (5000 words).
