

Site Pasific Exhibition Proposal

I propose an exhibition in ST Mary's church, my idea is to combine the past with the present and incorporate a sense of history and local legend. This will be done by combining old images of when the church was hit by the blitz with present images of the church. This will be done by using what I call the 3d effect, this will show the past version of the church and a present version in one image. I believe this will create an atmospheric series of images.

The interior location is a large open space bursting with potential. I can see a series of A0 prints on either side of the walk way, so as you walk down you see history whilst being hit by the beauty of the present

I have done a series of research on the church, this being the internet, books and word of mouth. All of these facts research tell me a story of how no matter what attempted to destroy the church it still remains standing and how important the church is to the locals and beyond.

My theme as mentioned previously is history of Swansea or more exact the church as it could be interesting to people who are and are not from Swansea to learn about what happened here. Weather is the Swansea Devil story or the religious aspect.

In conclusion I believe this will be a great response to local history and may revive and inspire others into research more about Swansea
