INTRODUCTION

This Module Directory includes all the modules for Level 5 within the Academic Discipline of Art & Media (WISA) in the academic year 2024-2025.

This directory accompanies the Programme of Study Handbook, which will provide you with details of which modules you will be studying for your programme this year in the 'Programme of Study' section. This directory may include modules that are running on other programmes of study within your Academic Discipline/Institute. If you require assistance in identifying the modules for your programme of study, please contact the Programme Manager (whose name and contact details are provided in the accompanying Programme of Study Handbook), or the relevant Institute Office.

The University has made every effort to make the information as full and as accurate as possible, but you should note that minor changes in the organisation of modules between the planning stage and the actual teaching are inevitable. We shall try to keep any such changes to a minimum, and you will receive plenty of advance warning in the event of any alteration. We would also be grateful if you would let us know about any changes that you think might be helpful if introduced into future handbooks.

AIM(S)

- To develop speculative and experimental approaches to test ideas, explore materials and processes and to synthesise these sophisticated relationships in creative exploration.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Find appropriate methods for creative exploration
- Document and present experimental practice in an appropriate format
- Critically analyse use of material and process in order to develop innovative approaches.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Examination of the relationship between conceptual ideas and practical resolution
- Experimentation with a range of media and methods
- Investigation of different methods of display
- Development of a speculative approach when choosing media
- Contextualisation of practice, process and display.

Study Time Allocation

The study time for the module is divided as follows:

Activity type	Hours	Percentage
Scheduled learning	48	24%
Independent learning	152	76%

AIM(S)

- To develop a variety of research methodologies as a means to inform and inspire a body of individual creative practice, informed by the wider social and cultural context.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Identify the relevance of research to a visual arts practice and the importance of the wider context within which the work is located.
- Present evidence of research and analysis in a well-documented and well-organised medium appropriate to their individual practice.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Case studies on contemporary visual art practitioners and other artists
- Documentation of research undertaken e.g. notes, drawings, photographs, text-related to articles in journals, books, exhibitions, reviews
- Evidence of experimentation as a response to the stimuli investigated
- Socio-political context and contemporary debates.

Module Code	ADDA5024
Title	Image Making 2 – Drawing for a Live Brief
Date	05/05/2021
Level	5
Credits	10
Pre-Requisites	None

AIM(S)

- To expand upon the visual qualities and primary research skills initiated at level 4, through an increasingly analytical approach. Students are expected to interpret ideas, themes and trends from a position of increased visual awareness, and vantage point of a professional collaboration.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Present evidence that demonstrates the ability to generate ideas independently and/or collaboratively in response to set briefs.
- Demonstrate proficiency in observation, investigation, enquiry, visualisation and/or making, with the ability to evaluate critically the appropriateness of different approaches to solving problems set by collaborative project partners/live briefs/clients.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Consolidation of observational skills as an academic tool
- Trend analysis
- Exploratory drawing processes for design

AIM(S)

- To expand upon the visual qualities and primary research skills initiated at level 4, through an increasingly analytical approach. Students are expected to interpret ideas, themes and trends from a position of increased visual awareness, and vantage point of a professional collaboration.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Present evidence that demonstrates the ability to generate ideas independently and/or collaboratively in response to set briefs.
- Demonstrate proficiency in observation, investigation, enquiry, visualisation and/or making, with the ability to evaluate critically the appropriateness of different approaches to solving problems set by collaborative project partners/live briefs/clients.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Consolidation of observational skills as an academic tool
- Trend analysis
- Exploratory drawing processes for design

Title	Visual and Material Language
Date	05/05/2021
Level	5
Credits	10
Pre-Requisites	None

AIM(S)

- To further explore and develop the individual's awareness and responsiveness to visual stimuli and ideation within the specific context of their chosen area of study.
- To emphasise the development of an individual approach to observation and perception in the quest of a personal visual language.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Develop enhanced concepts from primary sources; demonstrating an enthusiasm for enquiry into their discipline and the motivation to sustain it through exercising broad autonomy and judgement in selecting, planning and implementing tasks.
- Demonstrate an increasingly versatile and articulate visual vocabulary through a critical understanding of the significance of the work of other practitioners and awareness of major developments in current and emerging inter and multi-disciplinary approaches to surface pattern and textiles design.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Discussion and analysis of the visual and material language within and beyond specialist area.
- Advancement of production skills in a range of media.
- Curiosity and questioning of material and process in distinctly individual directions
- Innovative connections between workshop strands and conventional process domains.
- The advanced analysis of visual and perceptual information.
- Formulate critique as an evaluation of processes
- Further exploratory drawing processes for design
- Textile industry appropriate paint techniques – gouache, inks, open mesh print
- Digital drawing
- Drawing through Printed Textiles, Stitch, Print Making
- Drawing with hard materials; wire, clay, enamel

Title	Major Studies A3 - Designing for a Live Brief
Date	05/05/2021
Level	5
Credits	20
Pre-Requisites	None

AIM(S)

- To undertake and manage a robust surface pattern and textiles design process in response to a significant creative industry design brief.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Present evidence and realise final design outcome(s) by selecting appropriate materials and processes, including both analogue and digital, with considerations for a professional presentation to industry.
- Apply, consolidate and extend their learning in different contextual frameworks and situations, in the field of surface pattern and textiles.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Contextual research and interpretation in response to an 'external' live brief.
- Critical thinking, troubleshooting and problem solving.
- Drawing and its application through to preparation and artwork ready for print.
- Trend forecasting and awareness of the surface pattern and textile design industry.
- Mood board development and digital visualisation.
- Pattern building and design development; understanding pattern – repeat, scale, placement etc.
- Technical process development from inception to conception, considering technologies in surface pattern design practice including digital and analogue; and the combination of.
- Manipulation of pattern through digital applications; digital drawing, painting, montage and collage
- Materiality and knowledge for a sustainable future; including printed textiles and fibre knowledge dictated by the 'live' brief.
- Dyes, chemicals and equipment with relevant health and safety awareness
- Application of colour onto cloth and substrates.
- Digital applications and the growth of the new digital economy.

- Applied surface decoration techniques including stitch for construction or decoration.
- Application of new and emerging digital technologies.
- Idea creation through to realisation.
- Formulate and articulate a final major collection for the 'live' client as the surface pattern design industry demands.
- Developing and producing digital snapshot reports as and when required for review.
- Articulation of ideas within peer reviews, as well as 'live' client dialogues and responding to feedback thereafter.
- Individual time management.

Study Time Allocation

AIM(S)

- To understand, develop and take increased responsibility for the design direction, content and delivery of self-initiated creative work; clarifying personal aims and objectives in relation to their chosen context.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Initiate and self-direct a surface pattern design brief anticipating and accommodating change, working within contexts of uncertainty, unfamiliarity and ambiguity.
- Demonstrate responsibility, exercising broad autonomy and judgement in selecting, planning and implementing tasks in conjunction with the knowledge of new and appropriate skills, processes and materials for the surface pattern and textile design context chosen.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Contextual research and interpretation in response to a 'self-directed' brief.
- Formulate and articulate a self-directed major collection brief with timescale, management plan, and materials and processes that will be investigated.
- Critical thinking, troubleshooting and problem solving.
- Test-bed of ideas and concepts ahead of the 3rd year provision – a pre-cursor to the final major project.
- Consider and implement the presentation of the work as a trial run for an exhibition; on campus or online
- Idea creation through to realisation.
- Trend forecasting and awareness of the surface pattern design industry in relation to self-chosen context.
- Mood board development and digital visualisations.
- Technical process development from inception to conception, considering technologies in surface pattern design practice including digital and analogue; and the combination of.
- Manipulation of pattern and design through digital applications; digital drawing, painting, montage and collage.

- Materiality and knowledge for a sustainable future; including printed textiles and fibre knowledge dictated by the self-directed brief at hand.
- Dyes, chemicals and equipment for our sustainable future.
- Application of colour onto cloth and diverse range of conventional and unconventional substrates.
- Applied surface decoration techniques including stitch for construction or decoration.
- Application of new and emerging digital technologies for making, printing, designing and visualisation purposes.

Module Code	ADDA5028
Title	Digital and Material Futures B3
Date	03/04/2023
Level	5
Credits	20
Pre-Requisites	None

AIM(S)

- To develop innovative and progressive digital and material concepts and solutions for creativity and value creation.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- identify and evaluate the impact of digital and material practice on today's global society, understanding the responsibilities and choices of a designer of the future;
- demonstrate an understanding of innovative digital and material practice, and explore the potential for their discipline to interconnect with other disciplines/areas of expertise and make creative leaps forward.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Inventive use of a variety of materials and processes to create innovative hybridised surfaces.
- Sustained professional practice within the workshop environment for future context.
- Continued health and safety good practice
- Innovation, creativity, and digital literacy are drivers for understanding the responsibility as designers of the future
- Hybridised materials & surfaces will be developed from digital to analogue; or analogue to digital; fusing and blurring the lines between making in the real world and/or in the digital world.
- Advanced textiles processes, to encourage further manipulation and surface decoration for soft substrates.
- Advanced processes, to encourage further manipulation and surface decoration for hard substrates.
- Incorporate processes for soft and hard surfaces to develop and grow vision creation and ideation in material investigations.
- Investigating industry led technologies both virtual and augmented reality to enhance creativity and innovation.
- Advancing the use of Adobe Creative Cloud packages and virtual metaverse visualisation techniques powered by online packages such as swatcheditor.com etc.

- Developing industry led workflows using leading digital textile online software AVA CAD/CAM.
- Becoming independent and ready for future work-based scenarios; using screen to application techniques within the workshop environments.
- Understanding the need to be resourceful, in the context of making do with less or by changing/innovating surfaces.
- Consideration of material application to the developing individuals personal context through critical thinking, troubleshooting and problem solving, developing novel solutions.
- Questioning the sampled materiality and how this may encourage value creation in theory and practice
- Consider the material choices and the ethical processing, making skills and challenges that may arise.
- Developing the enterprising and data driven mindset that a future designer would be expected to be.
- Time management practices for an entrepreneurial mindset.
- Continued reflection and self-reflection.

AIM(S)

- To build the skills and competencies necessary for realising opportunities, career resilience and professional development in the multidisciplinary field of surface pattern and textiles for the student's future work context.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- evaluate personal employability and entrepreneurial ideas and their congruence with the multidisciplinary skills required for professional practice in a design environment;
- build a personal brand and promote a professional identity for real-time and ongoing programme related activities, and future graduate opportunities.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Analysing the creative industries to identify problems, gaps in the market and how you can add value for sustainable employability.
- Building your brand and promoting a professional identity through a personal development plan, underpinned by research and analysis skills.
- Begin a personal development plan for your online presence, that will engage with your practice and personal website building.
- Developing and engaging with robust online platforms: to develop and grow an online personal presence (e.g. basic website building/social media/blogs/vlogs etc.).
- Understand and navigate search techniques for employment/self-employment opportunities.
- Using Adobe Creative Cloud packages to develop online assets to use systematically.
- Understand the importance of copyright protection and formatting visual assets for the creative industries, specifically for surface pattern & textiles context.
- Understanding digital transformation 4.0, where we are all connected online and can personalise our interactions and connections with our virtual world and audience.
- Consider mobile technologies and the need to embrace design specifically for mobile output.
- Fluid brand development communicated uniformly on-line across multiple platforms.

- Demonstrate an awareness of emotional intelligence through, self-awareness, self-regulation, decision making, empathy and skill building.
- Social media harnessing considering ethics, values, diversity, inclusion, intercultural awareness and responsible stewardship.
- Understand cultural and linguistic expression when developing written content for web or social media.
- The hypothetical or actual set up of a creativity-led enterprise, e.g. a Pop-Up shop, a textile studio, an online presence including a website/social media.
- Basic principles of marketing, market research, customer, and competitor profiling, estimating market size, creating marketing material etc.
- Develop effective communication strategies through online or printed material.
- Develop oral presentation skills for future working.
- Succinctly and professionally present project ideas to peer group and participate in constructive feedback.
- Embrace teamwork by troubleshooting and problem solving.

AIM(S)

- To broaden and enhance material understanding so that students can refine making skills and develop personal / individual responses to craft concepts and contexts.
- To develop an advanced technical understanding of material and explore its potential and application within a Design Crafts context.
- To develop systematic approaches to documenting and recording material samples created by different processes and evidence further potential applications.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- employ convergent and divergent thinking in the process of observation, investigation, speculative enquiry, visualisation and making;
- demonstrate deeper understanding and contextual awareness of design craft processes, material and making;
- demonstrate the ability to produce a series of focused material samples that explore the material qualities and application for use within a Design Crafts context;
- create a focused and informative series of samples that demonstrate personal investigation and creative thinking in the application of processes learnt, accompanied by an informative technical file for future reference.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Personal research.
- Contextual awareness.
- Refining choice of materials and processes.
- Visual studies.
- Material samples. Cross referenced with parameters of:
- Process and making.
- Costs / H&S / Environmental Impact.
- Finishing / polishing.

- Surface decoration.
- Digital and analogue making.
- Glaze / enamel technology.
- Cutting, shaping and fixing materials.

AIM(S)

- To develop a greater understanding of the vocational context of Design Crafts, including responding to the needs of specific clients and markets and communicating effectively with these different audiences.
- To develop problem solving skills, understanding of materials and making strategies in response to the parameters of a set brief and advance the refinement of specialist craft skills.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- design, make and communicate a resolved body of craft work that meets the client's brief;
- demonstrate a well-developed knowledge and understanding of future career path and awareness of current and future market trends;
- demonstrate the ability to produce a series of focused and fully resolved material outcomes in response to the set brief;
- demonstrate an understanding of making options beyond personal practice e.g. employing sub-contractors.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

- Creative development.
- Materials samples.
- Fabricated models.
- Market research.
- Technical / CAD drawing and file preparation.
- Batch production / repetition.
- Professional finishing.
- 3D printing / CAD.
