Sound Therapy & ZenDen

Tuning fork healing is a sound therapy using different frequencies to help balance the body's energy. It is believed that sound waves can stimulate and promote healing on a physical, emotional and spiritual level.

ZenDen is in discussions with dolby Atmos and the leading brand of tuning forks. It also uses an aluminium plates due to its superior ability to conduct sound waves inorder to minimise sound degradation in the amplification process

ZENDEN

FIRST TIME YOU USE IT

You can make the most of any Tuning Fork session by paying attention to a few things before you begin.

- In preparation for the session, consider specific areas of tension that you would like to focus on (physically, mentally, spiritually, and emotionally).
- Keep an open mind and believe that sometimes results can be better than you anticipated.
- Each session should have a clear goal and intention.
- The vibrations from the Tuning Forks can trigger self-healing mechanisms in the body, so drink plenty of water afterwards.

Preparation will allow you to enjoy the session and its results to the fullest.

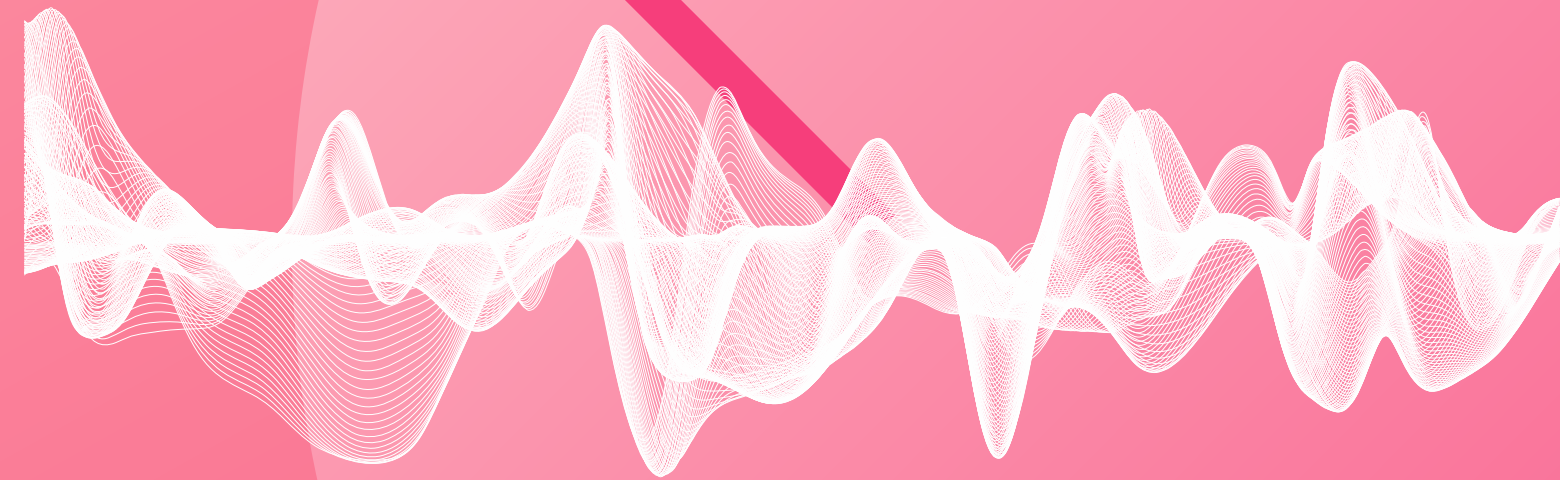

ZENDEN

WHY DO WE NEED THE ZENDEN?

We are electromagnetic beings. When we live in large cities and do not have regular access to nature we build up a charge in our field through constant exposure to EMF that surrounds us daily.

From microwaves, TVs, 5G, electricity and even 440 music. This creates dissonance in our bodies which are experienced as stress, insomnia, sickness, depression and anxiety.

By rebalancing bodies and our electromagnetic field, these symptoms have been seen to hugely reduce.

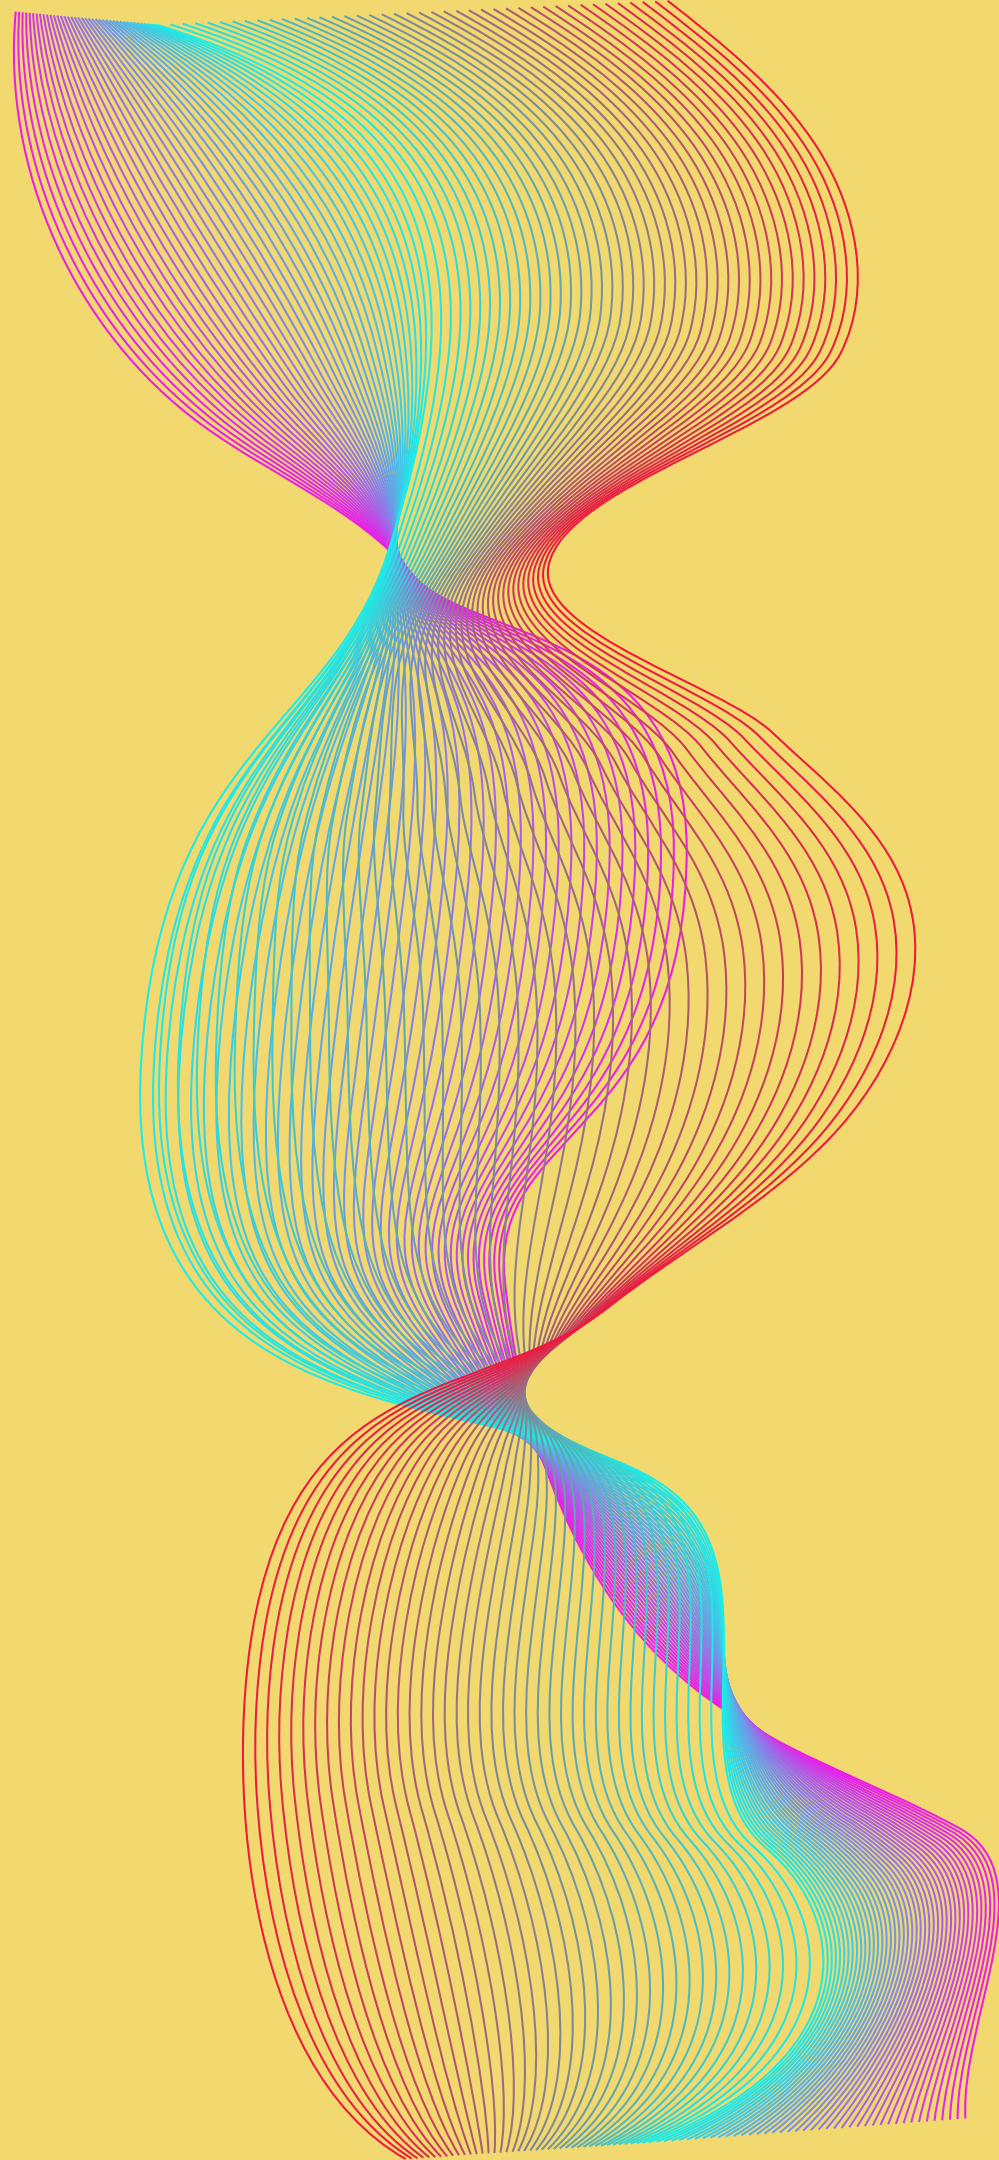

ZENDEN USP'S

- The ZenDen is designed so that you can become your own sound therapist both inner city or within a retreat.
- Treating the whole body at one time.
- No repeated cost for the therapist
- It also allows you to create your own binaural beats using a combination of frequencies to serve your purpose.
- Can be combined with light to create a full auditory and visual experience
- We are also exploring creating our own pods to host events in
- Can create your own set-up to suit your needs with a variety of tones and amps
- It solves the problem, with traditional sound baths where there is often an uneven distribution of sound, meaning that some people in the room or tent do not receive the full effect of the healing.

COMPETITION

There are tonnes of devices being developed to support humanity's quest for well-being which is declining at a rapid rate with the introduction of a more digitally led way of life.

So whilst that is sad news it also means there is a huge demand for solutions, especially those that actually work,

As the ZENDEN is utilising ancient sound healing technology it has a bit of a head start as its effectiveness at healing has been proven through the ages. However, we plan on giving it a bit of a facelift and making it less ancient and more relevant in today's terms.

Notable Competitors

Sound healing workshops

- reliant on event taking place, and can experience uneven sound, therefore less impact

Normal Tuning Forks -

- cannot reach your own field in an immersive way and or you are paying a therapist per session

Sound healing technology like vibro acoustic therapy

- expensive and can only reach one person at a time so not suitable for a flexible approach

- Love tuner which is great for stress relief and wearable however doesn't have the same level of therapeutic effects across the whole body and is limited to 528hz.... Has a great social media presence, though, and has now sold out.

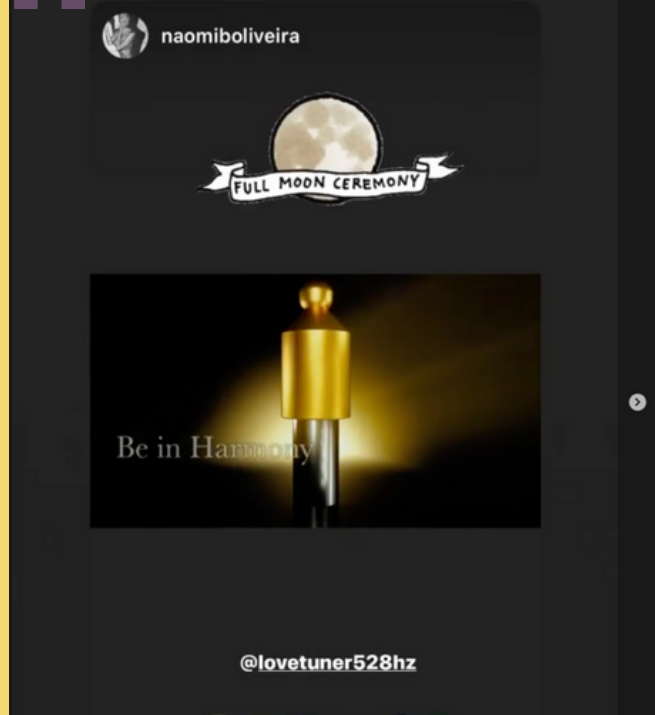

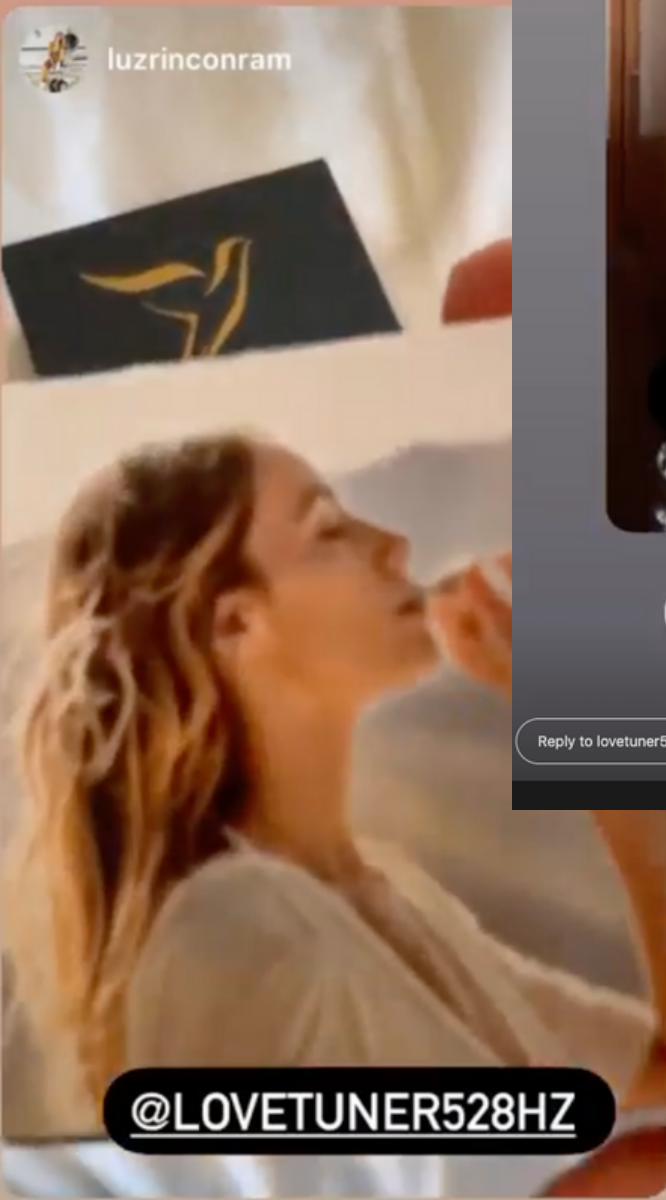

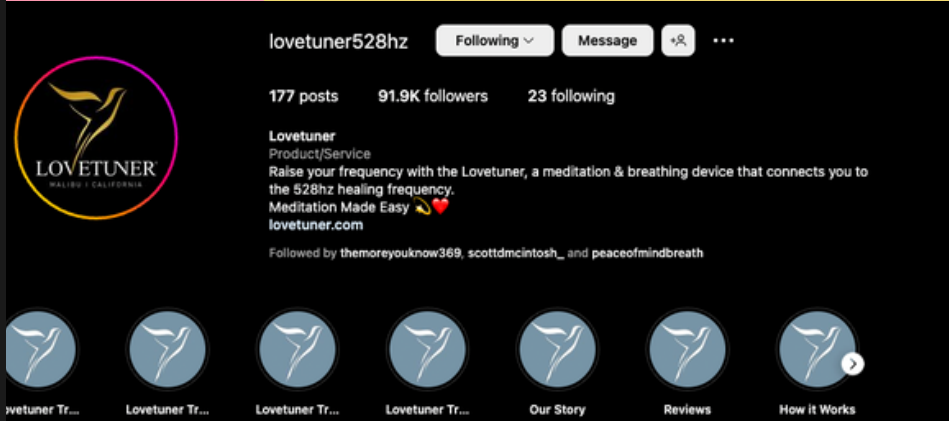

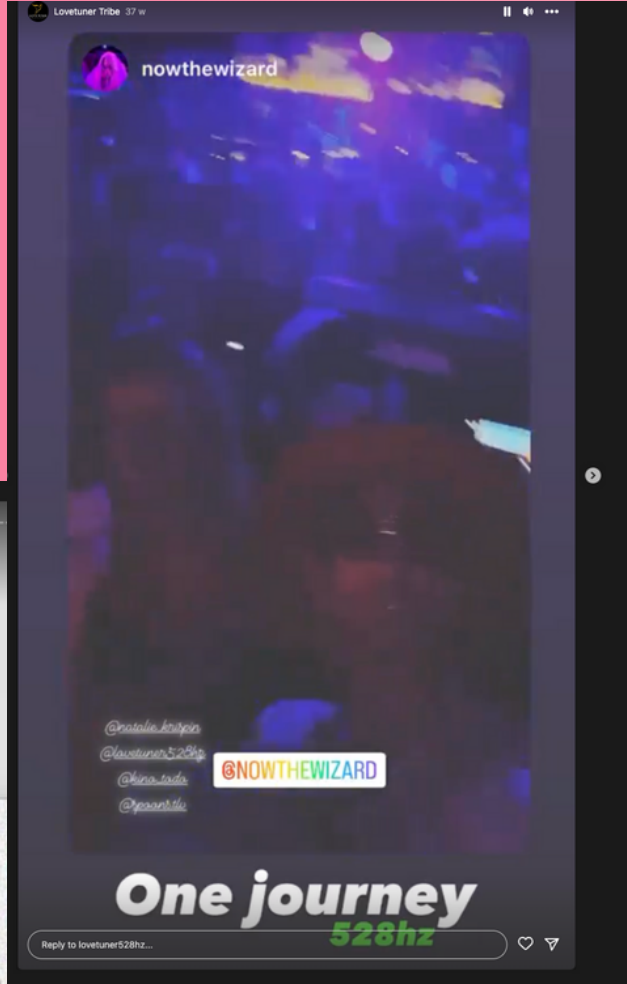

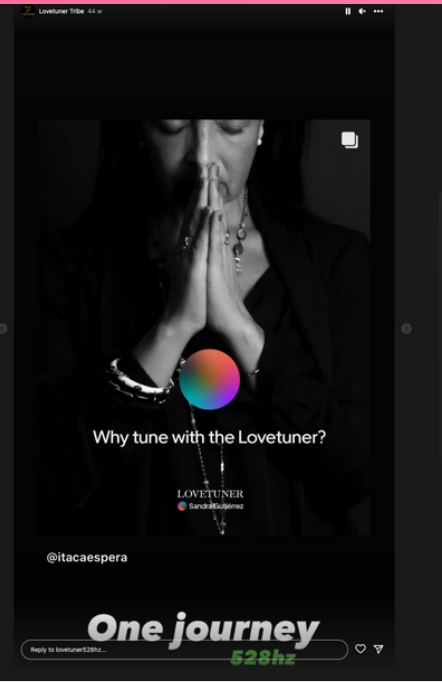

A deeper look at the LoveTuner campaign

I wanted to play on the words 'stay tuned' but it seems that the love tuner necklace is using that in their marketing

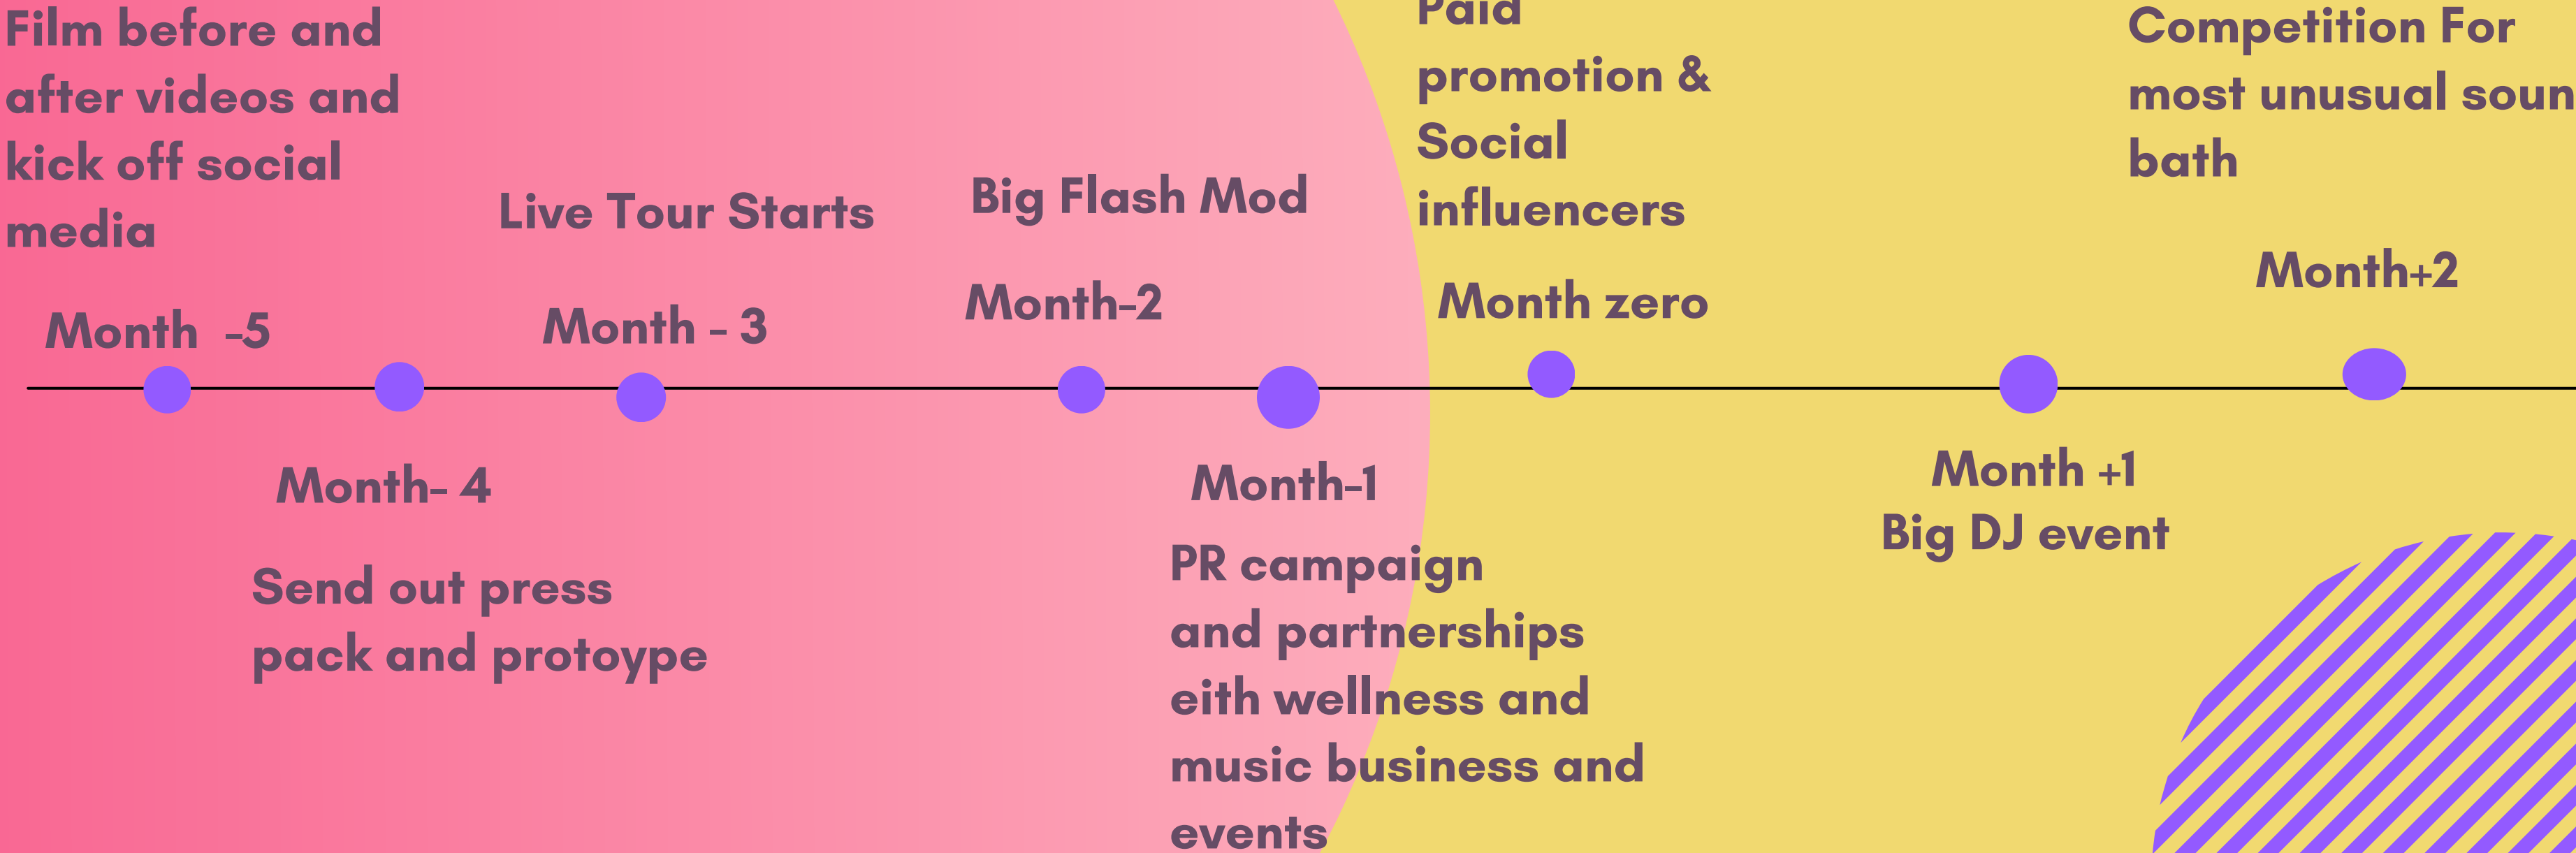

- Using a lot of video content of average people using the tuner
- in clubs, on beaches, in the office.
- Lightly Educating on sound resonance
- Use astrological events to promote
- They have made it accessible and easy to use
- Packaged beautifully
- Partnered with both glamorous influencers and more hippy-conscious folk
- They have partnered with conscious summits online and also festivals
- Promote it as a mindfulness and wellbeing tool, also leaning into a community with their slogan 'One World, One Love, One Tone'

£2 aluminium plate

£30 per mini amp

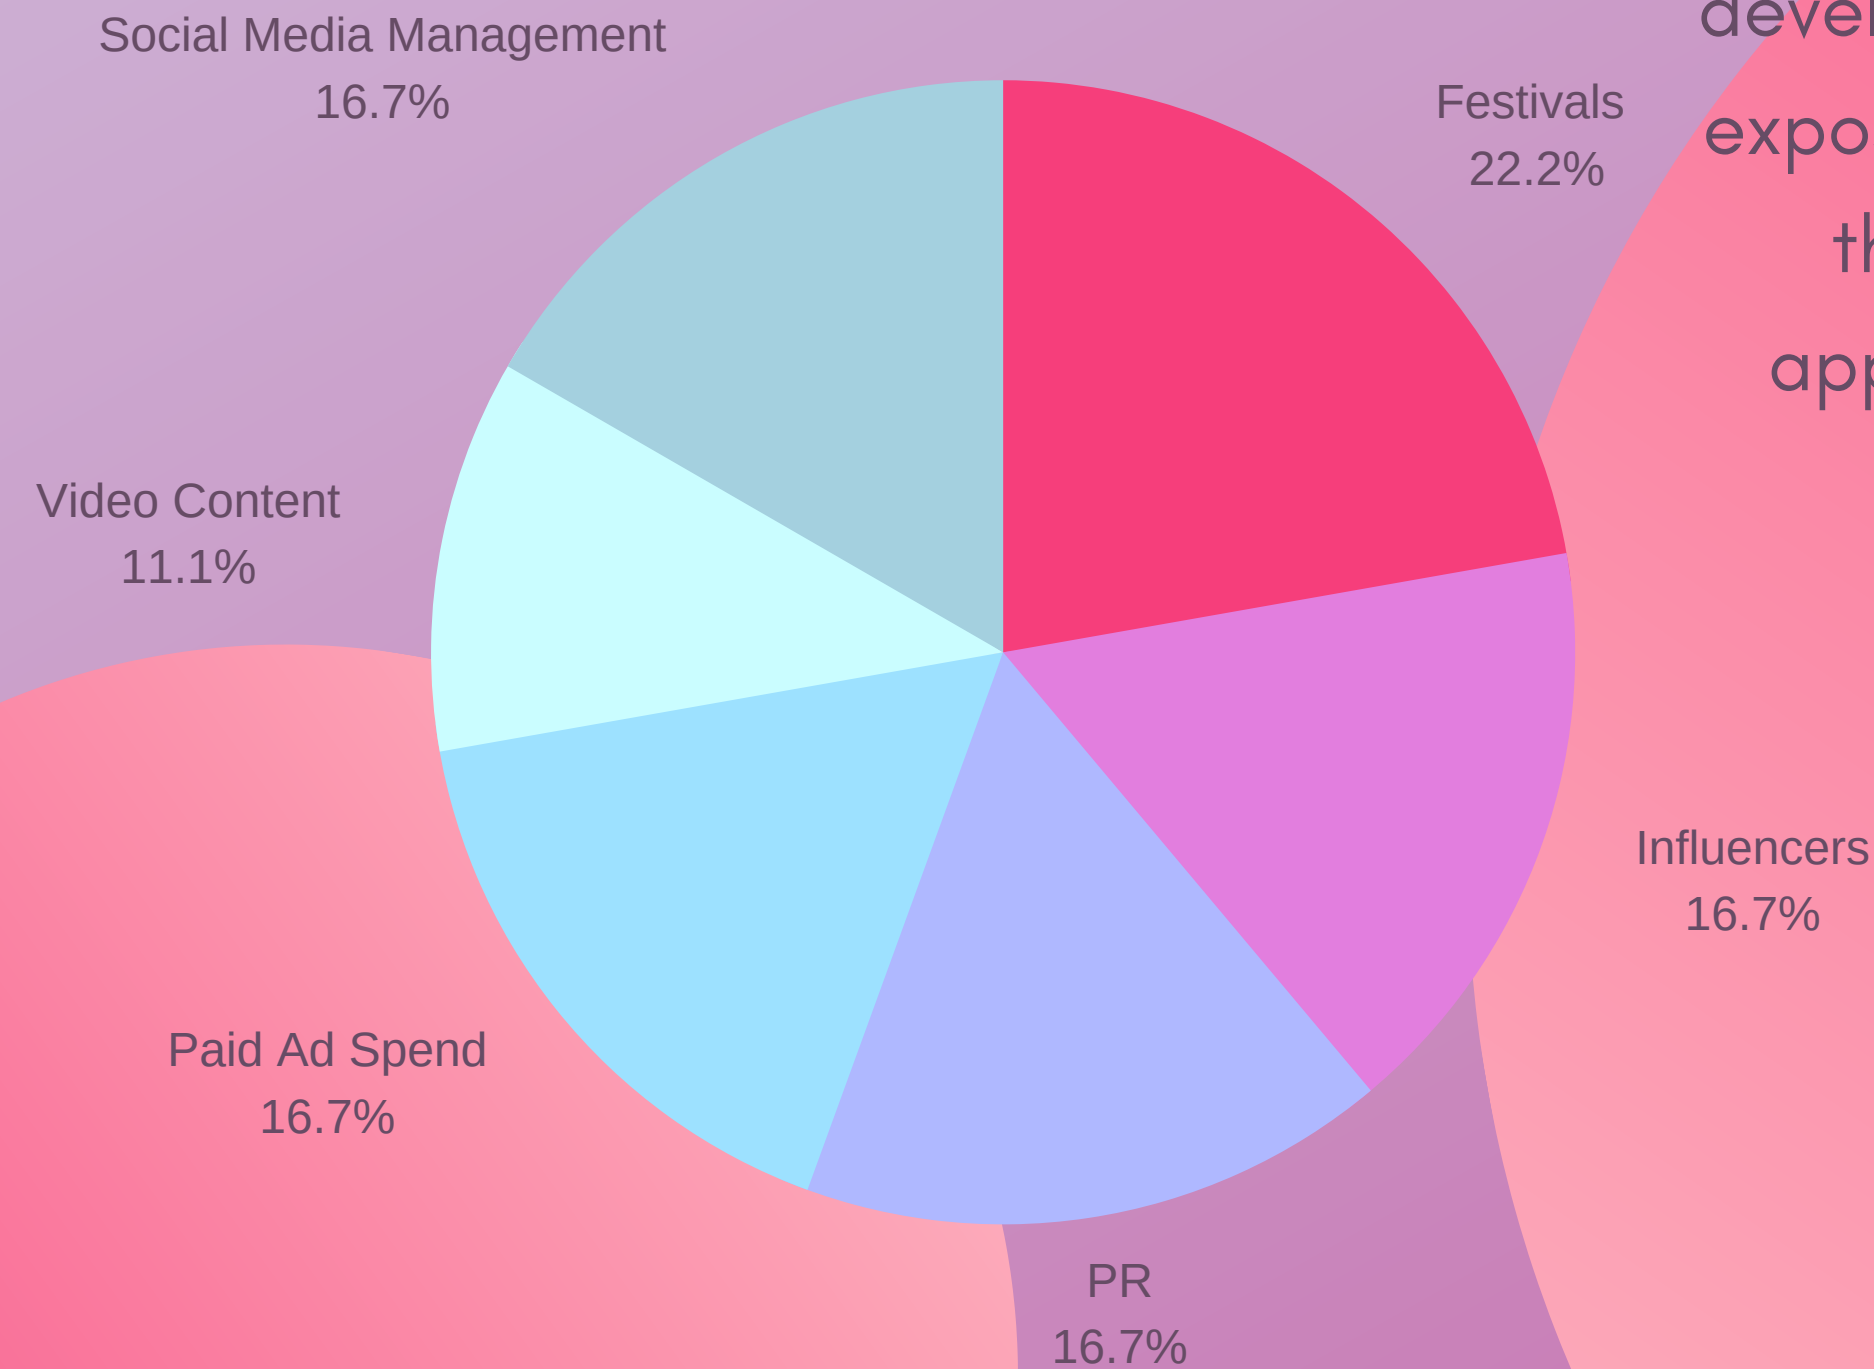

£6 guitar lead

Contact £7

£82 – but the aim would be to buy at wholesale or partner up

Due to the various purchase options there would be the different price points.
