this tile.

You should see something like this on your screen. Each assignment is set up to allow you to submit a draft of your assignment. The draft version will not be marked.

The purpose of doing this is so that you can check your Turnitin score for text-matching before you submit a final version of the assignment to be marked.

You can submit a draft assignment many times if you wish.

The image features a vibrant, abstract background with a watercolor-like texture. A large, solid pink circle is centered on the page. Inside this circle, the word "TURNITIN" is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font. Below the text, there is a short, horizontal black line.

TURNITIN

WHAT IS TURNITIN?

Turnitin is an originality checking and plagiarism prevention service that checks your writing for citation mistakes or inappropriate copying.

When you submit your assignment, Turnitin compares it to text in its massive database of student work, websites, books, articles, etc.

Your work will appear on the screen like this. This student has added a title page before her assignment begins.

How do Early Years Practitioners rationalise their pedagogy in different types of early years provisions?

ECDE7013

On the right-hand side of the screen, I see these symbols which I will use when marking your work.

Here is the total Turnitin score which tells me (or whoever the marker is) the percentage of the text that appears in other sources.

After you have submitted your draft version, click here to see how much of the text has been matched to other sources.

This information tells me that:

- 1% of this assignment has been previously submitted to UWTSD
- 1% appears in these publications
- Less than 1% appears in these publications

In early 2020, there was a significant shift in education to online learning across the world as a result of the global COVID19 pandemic (OECD, 2020). Many systems were adopted across the world to manage learning and teaching during the closures that came about as a result of lockdown periods with Google Classroom providing a platform that could be easily used by learners, (Sharda and Bajpai, 2021. P.362) suggesting that ease of use is a key factor in choosing Google Classroom.

Within the assignment, you will then see that some of the text will be highlighted in different colours. Each colour will have a number at the beginning of it, which corresponds to one of the sources on the list.

From the text above, source number 32 can be found here. As it is less than 1% and the words are ones that are commonly used in educational research, I would not need to investigate this further.

1	31	vdoc.pub	Internet Source	<1%	>
18	32	www.researchsquare.c...	Internet Source	<1%	>
	33	Submitted to University...	Student Paper	<1%	>

If you have a high Turnitin score, you may wish to go through your assignment again to check:

- That you have acknowledged any sources where you have used direct quotations and included a page number;
- That you have not copied and pasted from another source by mistake.

In either of these cases, you have the opportunity to amend your work before submission.

ASSIGNMENT COMPONENT 3 – ECDE7002 AND 7012

Please be aware, when you submit Assignment Component 3: Ethics Form to Turnitin, that there will be a high similarity score. This is because Turnitin counts all the words that are in the Ethics Form in the percentage. As long as you are happy that the words that you have written in each section are your own original work, you should not worry about the text-matching score.

The background is a complex, abstract marbled pattern. It features swirling, organic shapes in deep red, magenta, and dark green, set against a black base. The patterns resemble natural stone or liquid marbling. A large, semi-transparent pink circle is positioned on the left side of the image, partially overlapping the marbled background.

MARKING

After your work has been marked, to read the feedback, click here:

There are two places where you will find feedback.

1. In the body of the text:

themselves. Cohen et.al (2018, p.529), describes group interviewing with children as the most economical way of conducting interviews and allowing for interaction amongst themselves. Galleta (2013, p.45), describes the process of conducting a semi structured interview as eliciting data grounded in the experience of the participants.

Here, I have highlighted a specific phrase and then written a comment about it. You will need to click on the speech bubble to read the comment.

Effective justification

Here, I have inserted a general comment from a bank of comments.

2. In the text box on the right-hand side:

The image shows a software interface with a sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right. The sidebar contains two sets of icons: a top set with a stack of papers, a checkmark, a pencil, and a grid; and a bottom set with a stack of papers, a red flag with the number '1', the number '18', a red flag with a downward arrow, a red funnel, a red prohibition sign, a download arrow, and an information icon. The main content area has a blue header bar with 'Voice Comment' and a timer '0:00 / 3:00'. Below this is a 'Text Comment' section with a text box containing the following text:

You make clear the justifications behind your choices with regard to methodology and research tools in Chapter 3, and you have successfully linked literature to support your points. This would be strengthened further if you can avoid using the literature in a vacuum; i.e. just stating that an author says something with no real explanation of (a) what it means and (b) how it links to your study. Don't assume that the reader will automatically make these connections for themselves - you need to explicitly explain the way that you have taken something from the literature to support your own work. In places, you have missed opportunities to support your decisions with reference to literature.

A green arrow points from the text box in the instruction to the text box in the interface.

You can also click here:

This will tell you to what extent you have met the various marking criteria.

The marker will use the sliders to show which marking bracket each marking criteria has met – 40-49%, 50-59%, 60-69% etc.
