1. Research	My video presentation on researching the role of a child support worker i used the national careers service website in which i also used the craap test method which was found to be everything i need help me develop both my knowledge and presentation skills.During my research, I learned about the key responsibilities of a child support worker,including safeguarding children and supporting their wellbeing. I also explored the qualifications, training requirements, and personal requirements for the role,such as patience, resilience, empathy and strong communication skills. This research helped me understand the importance of professionalism, confidentiality and teamwork when working with children and families.
2. Presenting	When presenting, I focused on speaking clearly and explaining my points in a structured way. I tried to maintain my confidence and organise my information into clear sections so that it was understood clearly. Preparing a script beforehand helped me stay focused and ensured I included all key information.
3. Challenges you faced with your presentation	However I did face some challenges during the video presentation. I felt nervous at the beginning, which affected my confidence and pace. At times, I spoke too quickly and relied heavily on my notes. I also found it challenging to keep my presentation engaging throughout.
4. Actions to improve	To improve, I could practise my presentation more times beforehand to build more confidence and improve fluency. I could also work on slowing down my speech. Watching my recording back could possibly help identify areas to improve, such as body language and confidence.
5. Further steps needed to Prepare for Task 3	To prepare for task 3 I need to deepen my research further, possibly by looking at real life case studies or professional standards. I should also continue developing my communication skills and ensure i fully understand safeguarding policies and procedures to strengthen my overall knowledge.
