

MSc PUBLIC HEALTH AND SOCIAL CARE IN PRACTICE LONDON

This Master's course reflects the need for transforming social care for the aging population and tackling current public health issues such as lifestyle-related diseases, mental wellbeing, and longer-term conditions. The increasing demand and pressure on the system is calling for the efficient and effective use of resources.

University of Wales
Trinity Saint David
LONDON

Modules:

Part 1 (PGCert, PGDip & MSc):

Compulsory:

- Community Care and Management of Longer-term Conditions
- Health Care System Organisation and Leadership
- Practice-Based Research
- Social Epidemiology and Public Health Development

Optional:

- Population Health and Digital Health Promotion
- Quality Assurance and Service Improvements
- Service Integration and Partnership Working

Part 2 (MSc):

- Public Health and Social Care Dissertation

Registration 3 times a year:

February, June, October

Course Fee per year:

£7,800*

Duration:

1 years full-time programme

Entry criteria:

Students with a 2:1 in BSc Health and Social Care or related degree will be eligible for this course or an equivalent international qualification recognised by UK ENIC. Given the ILCL's focus on widening participation for students, we will also take into consideration students' previous qualifications and work experience. Experiential learning and prior learning will therefore be considered.

Please apply online:

uwtsdlondon.ac.uk/study/apply

subject to change*

Why study with us?

- Located in the heart of London, close to many historical landmarks and sights.
- Programmes that are underpinned by our research faculty and taught by lecturers at the forefront of their fields.
- Our campus has small class sizes ensuring a focused learning environment and a high degree of interaction.
- Internationally recognised degree. A degree from a UK university symbolises the quality of education that potential employers will recognise everywhere.
- Our friendly on-campus student engagement team is always available to help and support you to settle into university life.
- We aim to ensure that you get the most from your studies and form long-lasting relationships with alumni and the University.