“When the first ads in a campaign resemble TV spots (an impression with no click-through option), they act as open invitations for potential fans to explore your world. Down the line, when you retarget those same people, they might just be more willing to follow a call to action ("swipe up") and click through”

JOE BAYLEY - EPK
'CHANGE' - The Debut Single

LISTEN:

<https://soundcloud.com/user-906644505/change-demo/s-iLzEI>

THE STORY

Joe Bayley is a multi-instrumentalist Producer / Singer / Songwriter from South London. He was raised in Tooting on an eclectic home diet of music- everything from rock n roll, grunge and hiphop, to jungle, house and garage.

His debut single 'Change' is a mature, accomplished mix of hiphop rhythms with soulful vocals and funky instrumentals. Joe brings gospel samples, big beats, brass sections and funky guitar together with his own signature style.

He has garnered acclaim for his energetic live shows, which bring new elements such as beatboxing and looping, sample manipulation, fierce guitar playing, soaring vocals and a tightly rehearsed band.

‘Social media measurement is like driving a modern car. You may have a dashboard with all the lights, toggles, gauges, and metrics, but remember, the most important piece of data to have in front of you is the GPS screen. The GPS screen indicates where you want to go (your objective), where you are now, and how to get there.’

Example Kept His Promise And Bought New Car For A Fan

Example:

If I was going to do a promoted, boosted post to ensure 400,000 people saw it, it would have cost me $9,000, but I spent $3,000 on the car.

Had we employed PR companies to get that reach we got, from radio and press and blogs, it would have probably cost us $15,000 to $20,000 easy. And all of that came from a comment I happened to respond to."

THE STORY

Joe Bayley is a multi-instrumentalist Producer / Singer / Songwriter from South London. He was raised in Tooting on an eclectic home diet of music- everything from rock n roll, grunge and hip hop, to jungle, house and garage.

As his musical skills and interests developed, he would write solo material to perform at music nights around London with an acoustic guitar, before he started to record and produce at home. This transformed his sound into the genre-hopping spectacle it is today, drawing comparisons to artists such as Jack Garrett and Chet Faker.

He has garnered acclaim for his energetic live shows, which bring new elements such as beatboxing and looping, sample manipulation, fierce guitar playing, soaring vocals and a tightly rehearsed band.

Join Joe as he drops his debut single in 2020 and take his next big step in music, arriving on the scene with a thunderous sound and a slew of live dates to come
